Veep Elevated By Ecuadorians

Air Raid Enforces Congressional Decree

QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—Carlos Julio Arosemena takes the oath as Ecuador's new president today, promoted from the vice presidency by a constitutional right that the air force enforced with a noisy jet raid on Quito.

The show of force Wednesday by three rocket-firing jet fighters led the army-backed provisional president, Supreme Court President Camilo Gallegos Toledo, to drop his claim to the presidency vacated Tuesday by Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra.

That cleared the way for the succession of Arosemena, 42, the left-leaning vice president elected with Velasco Ibarra in June 1960. Congress already had proclaimed him president Tuesday night.

Gallegos, a political centrist, resigned within minutes after the jets fired rockets and brief machine gun bursts in swoops over the military barracks as tank-supported soldiers held Arosemena a virtual prisoner at the legislative palace.

Though the barracks seemed to be the target, the palace was jarred by two blasts from the jets, U. S. made T33s. Residents swarmed into the streets as explosions echoed off the surrounding mountains. Despite all the noise, no damage or casualties were reported.

Gallegos' resignation was received at the palace with cheers and applause. The troops and tanks withdrew. Arosemena took over the presidential palace, where his opponent had holed up.

Col. Aurelio Naranjo of the defense ministry announced the Quito garrison accepted Arosemena as president in response to popular demand.

Policeman Kills One Man, Wounds 2nd, Captures 3rd

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—One man was shot and killed, another wounded and a third captured by a police sergeant at a burglary scene on the West Side early today.

Police Sgt. William Turnbull, 49, opened fire on three men he said he saw carting television sets from a broken window in a record shop of the Mahoning Plaza. He said they failed to heed his warning to halt.

Killed by a shot in the back was Ervin Eley, 22, of Youngstown. William Eley, 28, brother of Ervin, was shot in the shoulder as he sought to get away in a car. Robert Moore, 24, of Girard was captured near the scene.

Ervin Eley was free on bond awaiting grand jury action on a supermarket burglary Sept. 16. The others also had criminal records, police said.

Democrat Wins in 3 States Seen Aiding Kennedy Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana predicted today that Democratic election victories in New Jersey, New York and Texas have enhanced prospects for pushing President Kennedy's legislative program through Congress.

Mansfield said in an interview that the results reflect "a vote of confidence in the President and will strengthen his hand" with congressmen "who are adept at understanding the handwriting on the wall."

Taking much the same tack, Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey said the vote "demonstrates that the people strongly approve of the President's actions and legislative program."

Experimental Plane Kills Its Builder

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—"Well, I probably won't be seeing you anymore," Herbert Dean Jr. joked to a friend Wednesday before he took off in his home-made Delta wing airplane.

Then trouble developed 200 feet up and the plane plummeted to the turf of Bishop Airport, mortally injuring the pilot. Dean died two hours later, leaving a wife and four children.

The 33-year-old machinist labored two and a half years to build the experimental craft, named "Beckoning Angel." He told friends he had dreams of his plane as a prototype for a commercial venture.

He built the craft in the basement of his home for an estimated $6,000. In September he moved a wall to get the plane outside and to an airport for final pre-flight adjustments.

In earlier tests, he lifted "Beckoning Angel" 10 feet off the ground. A Federal Aviation Agency inspector gave an O. K. to rise 25 feet in the fatal test.

He revved up the 180-horsepower piston engine located in the rear and shot the plane down the runway. Spectators said he called "no soap" over the radio just as the craft lifted. They said it shot skyward, dipped toward the runway, then shot up a second time before falling.

He was lifted from the craft with multiple head and chest injuries and fractures of both legs.

Pressure Suit Helps Man Walk

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—John Pastor has a new suit and now he may be able to work again.

The Air Force gave an obsolete pressure suit to the 60-year-old victim of abnormally low blood pressure. This disorder had kept him bedridden for a year. He couldn't walk 10 feet without fainting.

But with the pressure suit he can walk into his yard and back, he said Wednesday. With a pressure bulb he pumps air into its inflatable portions.

Said his wife: "We'll just have to wait and see how it works. But he was able to walk, which he couldn't do before."

Bishop Is Rescued

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Communist rebels ambushed a Roman Catholic bishop in the southern delta region Wednesday, but he was rescued by a passing military convoy.

grams to get America on the move again."

Bailey added in a statement: "I hope that it will persuade the obstructionist Republican leadership of the Congress to adopt different tactics in the next session."

Mansfield said the victories were not due only to the efforts of the candidates, but to the "final push, given by Kennedy in New Jersey and New York City and by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, who campaigned for Henry B. Gonzalez in Texas."

Gonzalez won a House seat. Kennedy appeared for Richard J. Hughes who won an upset victory in the race for governor of New Jersey and for Mayor Robert F. Wagner in his successful bid for re-election to a third term in New York City.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower also had comments Wednesday on the three races. In a statement issued at Gettysburg, Pa., he described the losses as disappointments and said they proved that manpower, money, party unity and grass roots organization are essential to victory.

Mansfield said it has been "a great autumn" for the Democratic party under Kennedy and Johnson and the election returns "clearly foreshadow the support which the American people are prepared to give the President in this decade of danger."

Among other things, Mansfield contended, the Democratic victories strengthen Kennedy's chances of passing a medical care bill for the elderly as well as an extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act.

Ike Accepts Assignment From Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy as asked former President Dwight D. Eisenhower to head a revamped "people-to-people" organization. Eisenhower says he will be delighted to serve.

The announcement that Kennedy had enlisted his predecessor's services for the first time was made by Kennedy at his news conference Wednesday.

The people-to-people program was conceived by Eisenhower in 1956 as a vast effort to establish closer personal contacts between Americans of all occupations and interests in countries all over the world.

That year an organization was formed to carry out the program. It was dissolved in June 1958, but the United States Information Agency was to help its various committees to continue functioning. USIA continues to administer the program.

Eisenhower issued a statement at Gettysburg, Pa., saying he would go to Kansas City to discuss the program. The new organization has been incorporated as a non-profit corporation under the laws of Missouri, with headquarters in Kansas City.

The new organization, USIA said, was made possible through financial and other assistance provided by Hallmark Foundation.

Lunch Box Cost Life Of Los Angeles Printer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A lunch box cost Michael Cuevas, 40, his life.

Californians Mass against Pair of Blazes

456 Houses Levelled With Insured Loss Set at $24 Million

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Men and machines massed today for another assault on the twin blazes in the Santa Monica Mountains, the worst fire disaster in Southern California history.

Firemen controlled flames in exclusive Bel-Air and environs Wednesday night. The fire in nearby Topanga Canyon was near containment today. Authorities reported favorable wind and humidity.

Official damage estimates: 456 homes destroyed (by actual count), all but nine in the Bel-Air area; 14,150 acres of watershed ruined; property damage perhaps in excess of $20 million.

(Insurance officials estimated total insured losses may run as high as $24 million.)

The situation today: Topanga Canyon, 8,400 acres charred, 250 men and 60 vehicles on the fire lines; Bel-Air-Brentwood: 5,750 acres scorched; 150 men, 20 vehicles. No immediate danger to the nearby seashore community of Pacific Palisades, although the two fires are only a half-mile apart at their nearest point.

There have been no deaths reported during the four-day holocaust. At least 150 firemen have been injured, none seriously. The fires have destroyed many homes in the $100,000-and-over class in the movie colony known as the Hollywood Hills section. Thousands of persons fled from homes and schools.

In the movie colony, flames destroyed the homes of Burt Lancaster, Zsa Zsa Gabor, Joe E. Brown, Joan Fontaine, producer Walter Wanger and composer Lukas Foss. Among the evacuees, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who returned Tuesday to his rented home in Brentwood.

Flames and smoke from the mountains still were visible for miles. Associated Press reporter Charles Maher, who surveyed the damage in the Bel-Air section, described the scene: "It looked like a vast graveyard of mansions. In many places all that remained were chimneys, standing like smoking tombstones over piles of ashes."

Cause of the outbreak has not been determined. The blazes began Monday near the crest of the Santa Monica range—extending west to the sea from Hollywood—and swept into heavily populated areas north of Sunset Boulevard.

Eibling Will Speak At CHS Graduation

Dr. Harold Eibling, superintendent of Columbus city schools, was selected as Commencement speaker for Circleville High School's May 1962, graduation ceremonies Tuesday during a brief meeting of the city board of education.

Eibling, a veteran educator, was characterized by George A. Hartman, city superintendent, as a man with a life-long interest in the welfare of youth.

In the only other action taken, the board awarded a high school diploma to Farrel Manson, who had completed special tutoring work.

Over 7,000 Vote Tuesday in County

Slightly more than half—about 55 per cent — of those eligible to vote in Tuesday's general election exercised their prerogative, a report from the Pickaway County Board of Elections showed today.

A total of 7,349 persons cast ballots at precinct polling stations throughout the county. There are 13,517 registered voters in Pickaway County. The turnout was considered fairly good for an off-year election.

Kennedy Says U.S. Military Power Now Second to None

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy says the United States packs military power second to none in the world and won't be fooled by the Soviets into losing this strength.

To maintain the U.S. position, he proposes: To seek additional money for defense next year.

To keep a steady eye on U.S. strength, intelligence and commitments in relation to the capabilities of its adversaries.

To get ready for nuclear tests in the atmosphere and to conduct them if necessary.

It was in connection with nuclear test readiness that Kennedy declared Wednesday the United States is determined not to be maneuvered out of a position of power. He reminded his news conference for its current series of nuclear blasts while discussing a test ban over the conference table.

"If they fooled us once, it is their fault," Kennedy said, "and if they fool us twice, it is our fault."

Kennedy, who previously had signaled a rise in military expenditures, did not say how much he would ask Congress to appropriate next year. The 1961-62 defense budget, increased $6 billion since he took office in January, is about $47 billion.

This was Kennedy's 18th presidential news conference—his first in nearly a month. It ran for about a half hour and was lightened by flashes of humor. While it produced nothing especially new, it gave the President a chance to express his views on many things—from military power to recent Democratic triumphs at the polls.

He is reluctant, Kennedy said, to predict future results on the basis of past elections. But had

Jury Rejects Damages in Radio Dispute

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A common pleas court jury has rejected a $300,000 libel suit against the Sky Way Broadcasting Corp. and its manager, Bert Charles.

The jury of six men and six women Wednesday turned down the bid for damages by William C. Jorgensen, a former Columbus newscaster with WTVN.

Counsel for Jorgensen contended he was fired in 1958 because of an editorial attack by Charles delivered on radio station WKVO.

The case was built around an editorial broadcast by Jorgensen on Sept. 8, 1958, and a criticism of it by Charles on Sept. 9, 1958. Jorgensen was fired three days later.

Charles and Sky Way's attorneys contended that Jorgensen was fired solely because of his own broadcast on Sept. 8, 1958. But Jorgensen's counsel claimed he had been libeled by Charles through a vast audience and held up to shame, humiliation and ridicule.

Judge George B. Marshall said the editorial broadcast by Charles attacking Jorgensen was libelous per se (in itself).

However, Judge Marshall added that truth is a defense to libel and also noted that the jurors should consider other mitigating circumstances.

Ohio Registered Nurse Pay Said Too Meager

CLEVELAND (AP)—A basic obstacle to the provision of adequate nursing care for people in Ohio is the low salary paid the average employed registered nurse in the state, according to the Ohio State Nurse Association holding its annual convention here.

The association president, Mrs. Michael Whalen of Youngstown, provided figures Wednesday showing the monthly salary range for the beginning graduate nurse in Ohio was from $245 in some sections to as high as $370 in Cleveland.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York, Gov.-elect Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey and Rep.-elect Henry B. Gonzalez of Texas lost he said, "it would have been interpreted as a stunning setback for this administration." So he said he would break his rule and say their victories were a "source of satisfaction to us" and indicate the voters believe both the candidates and Democratic party are committed to progress.

With a smile, he added: "I suppose some day we will lose and I will have to eat those words."

Kennedy replied with vigor when a questioner said some people regard the views of Prime Minister Nehru of India as tending to be pro-Communist.

"I know of no rational man in the United States who holds that view," Kennedy asserted. Nehru is in Washington for talks with the President.

In reference to attempts to assure business leaders he is not anti-business, Kennedy said, "Well, if it stops them saying we are anti-business we are supposed to cease enforcing the antitrust law, I suppose the cause is lost."

White Supremacy Advocate Faces Condemnation in U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Faced with almost certain U.N. condemnation and possibly a call for a worldwide diplomatic and trade boycott, South African Foreign Minister Eric Louw goes before the U. N. special political committee today to defend his government's white supremacy policy.

Sources in his delegation said Louw would deal at length with the demand for sweeping boycotts and possible expulsion from the U. N. sponsored by 30 Asian-African countries and Cuba.

Informants said Louw would stress his government's contention that apartheid—racial segregation—is an internal matter and none of the U. N.'s business and would charge that the assembly had set up a double standard for judging actions—with the small nations serving as whipping boys.

Two rival resolutions on the South African race question have been submitted to the committee.

The 31-nation draft calls for diplomatic and economic sanctions and draws the attention of the Security Council to the question of expelling South Africa from the world body.

A milder proposal put in by seven nations calls on South Africa to change its race policies and urges members to impose whatever penalties they might want under the U. N. Charter.

The Soviet bloc has thrown its support behind the 31-nation draft and has urged that South Africa be expelled, but most members oppose such a drastic step, contending it would do more harm than good.

The United States and Britain have come out against any boycott, but both have called for a denunciation of the republic's race policies.

Elsewhere in the U. N. the assembly by a 71-11 vote Wednesday night adopted a U.S.-British resolution calling for immediate resumption of East-West negotiations on a nuclear test ban treaty. Fifteen nations abstained, and six were absent. The Soviet Union doomed the negotiations, saying the talks would never be held.

Only a few hours before, most of the young Army recruits had been in a gay mood as they boarded the aircraft in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Maryland on their way to basic training at Ft. Jackson, S.C.

The Imperial Constellation, one of three Imperial aircraft under contract to the Army to haul recruits, had taken off from Newark, N.J., and stopped at the Wilkes-Barre-Scranton, Pa., airport and at Baltimore, Md., to pick up additional recruits destined for Ft. Jackson, S.C., for basic training.

The Army's listing showed that 22 recruits and 4 regular Army enlistees boarded the plane at Newark. 31 recruits boarded her at Wilkes-Barre-Scranton airport at Avoca, Pa., and 17 at Baltimore's Friendship International Airport.

The Federal Aviation Agency said the plane developed engine trouble about 10 miles west of Richmond and headed for Byrd Field, just east of the city limits, for an emergency landing.

Witnesses at the airport said it first flew over the field at an altitude of only 700 to 800 feet and seemed to be operating on only two engines — both on the same side of the plane.

The units were activated Oct. 1.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle received a telegram today quoting the secretary of the Air Force, Eugene M. Zuchert as saying, "The manner in which the deployment was conducted so soon after recall could only be the result of sustained superior performance."

The units were activated Oct. 1.

Game Official Is Cited Here

The old adage of "Do as I say and not as I do" was appropriate for a defendant in Circleville Municipal Court today.

R. D. Kreis, 434 E. Franklin St., a game protector of District No. 5 Division of Ohio Wildlife, was fined $25 and costs for hunting squirrel on Sunday.

The affidavit was filed against Kreis by T. W. Overholser, district law enforcement supervisor.

Kreis was assigned to the Pickaway County area as a game protector several weeks ago. According to reports here, his enforcement license was in effect when he was cited here.

OVERHOLSER, the arresting officer, was not available for comment today due to meeting in Columbus. The District No. 5 Headquarters is at Chillicothe.

According to the Chillicothe office, the matter is still under investigation.

2 Crewmen Survive Crash as Ship Seeks Safety of Airport

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Seventy-four young Army draftees and volunteers, en route to begin training only hours after taking their service oaths, perished in the fiery crash of a chartered plane near here Wednesday night. Three of the five crew members died also.

The big four-engine Imperial Airlines Constellation was striving desperately to reach the safety of Byrd Airport with two engines out. It made one unsuccessful pass at the field and circled for another try.

Suddenly, an airport observer reported, the plane "dropped straight down. A ball of fire shot up. It must have gone 300 feet in the air." Explosions echoed through the cold, starry night as rescuers raced to the scene in a marshy woodland.

It was 9:24 p.m. The crash was the second worst single commercial plane disaster in the United States. The record toll for a single plane occurred Sept. 1 when a Trans World Airlines Constellation plunged into a cornfield near Chicago, killing all 78 aboard.

If regarded as a military flight disaster, the crash here also would rank as the second worst in the country involving one plane. In 1952, 87 men lost their lives in a takeoff accident of an Air Force C124 at Larson Air Force Base in Washington state.

Pennsy, NYC Negotiate For Merger

NEW YORK (AP)—The Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads are embarking on negotiations aimed at a merger to form the world's biggest railroad.

Directors of the rival lines reached the decision Wednesday and appointed a committee of their members to get the talks under way immediately.

The negotiations appeared headed into an obstacle — studied course. Objections on antitrust grounds seemed likely.

A previous attempt to bring the two railroads together foundered in January 1959.

In the first nine months of this year the two roads had a combined deficit of $40 million.

A merger would put together a system with 20,000 miles of track, $5.5 billions in assets and annual revenues of about $1.7 billion.

The Central's trackage extends from Boston and New York to Chicago and St. Louis and from north of the Canadian border to Cincinnati and Charleston, W. Va. Much of the same area is served by the Pennsylvania.

Only a few hours before, most of the young Army recruits had been in a gay mood as they boarded the aircraft in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Maryland on their way to basic training at Ft. Jackson, S.C.

The Imperial Constellation, one of three Imperial aircraft under contract to the Army to haul recruits, had taken off from Newark, N.J., and stopped at the Wilkes-Barre-Scranton, Pa., airport, and at Baltimore, Md., to pick up additional recruits destined for Ft. Jackson, S.C., for basic training.

The Army's listing showed that 22 recruits and 4 regular Army enlistees boarded the plane at Newark, 31 recruits boarded her at Wilkes-Barre-Scranton airport at Avoca, Pa., and 17 at Baltimore's Friendship International Airport.

The Federal Aviation Agency said the plane developed engine trouble about 10 miles west of Richmond and headed for Byrd Field, just east of the city limits, for an emergency landing.

Witnesses at the airport said it flew over the field at an altitude of only 700 to 800 feet and seemed to be operating on only two engines—both on the same side of the plane.

Air Guards Arrive at French Base

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Taking part in the largest deployment of a tactical fighter force since World War II, the men and planes of Ohio's recently activated Air National Guard squadrons have arrived safely at a base near Etain, France.

The two Ohio squadrons that headed overseas a little more than a week ago are the 112th Tactical Fighter Squadron of Toledo and the 166th Tactical Fighter Squadron of Columbus.

They were accompanied by units from Boston, St. Louis, New Jersey, Alabama and Indiana. More than 200 single-engine jets were flown in an island-hopping route to Europe, and support personnel and materials were flown across the Atlantic in Air Force transports.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle received a telegram today quoting the secretary of the Air Force, Eugene M. Zuchert as saying, "The manner in which the deployment was conducted so soon after recall could only be the result of sustained superior performance."

The units were activated Oct. 1.

Game Official Is Cited Here

The old adage of "Do as I say and not as I do" was appropriate for a defendant in Circleville Municipal Court today.

R. D. Kreis, 434 E. Franklin St., a game protector of District No. 5 Division of Ohio Wildlife, was fined $25 and costs for hunting squirrel on Sunday.

The affidavit was filed against Kreis by T. W. Overholser, district law enforcement supervisor.

Kreis was assigned to the Pickaway County area as a game protector several weeks ago. According to reports here, his enforcement license was in effect when he was cited here.

2 Crewmen Survive Crash as Ship Seeks Safety of Airport

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Seventy-four young Army draftees and volunteers, en route to begin training only hours after taking their service oaths, perished in the fiery crash of a chartered plane near here Wednesday night. Three of the five crew members died also.

The big four-engine Imperial Airlines Constellation was striving desperately to reach the safety of Byrd Airport with two engines out. It made one unsuccessful pass at the field and circled for another try.

Suddenly, an airport observer reported, the plane "dropped straight down. A ball of fire shot up. It must have gone 300 feet in the air." Explosions echoed through the cold, starry night as rescuers raced to the scene in a marshy woodland.

The crash was the second worst single commercial plane disaster in the United States. The record toll for a single plane occurred Sept. 1 when a Trans World Airlines Constellation plunged into a cornfield near Chicago, killing all 78 aboard.

If regarded as a military flight disaster, the crash here also would rank as the second worst in the country involving one plane. In 1952, 87 men lost their lives in a takeoff accident of an Air Force C124 at Larson Air Force Base in Washington state.

Only a few hours before, most of the young Army recruits had been in a gay mood as they boarded the aircraft in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Maryland on their way to basic training at Ft. Jackson, S.C.

The Imperial Constellation, one of three Imperial aircraft under contract to the Army to haul recruits, had taken off from Newark, N.J., and stopped at the Wilkes-Barre-Scranton, Pa., airport, and at Baltimore, Md., to pick up additional recruits destined for Ft. Jackson, S.C., for basic training.

Pennsy, NYC Negotiate For Merger

NEW YORK (AP)—The Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads are embarking on negotiations aimed at a merger to form the world's biggest railroad.

Directors of the rival lines reached the decision Wednesday and appointed a committee of their members to get the talks under way immediately.

The negotiations appeared headed into an obstacle—studied course. Objections on antitrust grounds seemed likely.

A previous attempt to bring the two railroads together foundered in January 1959.

In the first nine months of this year the two roads had a combined deficit of $40 million.

A merger would put together a system with 20,000 miles of track, $5.5 billion in assets and annual revenues of about $1.7 billion.

The Central's trackage extends from Boston and New York to Chicago and St. Louis and from north of the Canadian border to Cincinnati and Charleston, W. Va. Much of the same area is served by the Pennsylvania.

Air Raid Enforces Congressional Decree

QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—Carlos Julio Arosemena takes the oath as Ecuador's new president today, promoted from the vice presidency by a constitutional right that the air force enforced with a noisy jet raid on Quito.

The show of force Wednesday by three rocket-firing jet fighters led the army-backed provisional president, Supreme Court President Camilo Gallegos Toledo, to drop his claim to the presidency vacated Tuesday by Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra.

That cleared the way for the succession of Arosemena, 42, the left-leaning vice president elected with Velasco Ibarra in June 1960. Congress already had proclaimed him president Tuesday night.

Gallegos, a political centrist, resigned within minutes after the jets fired rockets and brief machine gun bursts in swoops over the military barracks as tank-supported soldiers held Arosemena a virtual prisoner at the legislative palace.

Though the barracks seemed to be the target, the palace was jarred by two blasts from the jets, U. S. made T33s. Residents swarmed into the streets as explosions echoed off the surrounding mountains. Despite all the noise, no damage or casualties were reported.

Gallegos' resignation was received at the palace with cheers and applause. The troops and tanks withdrew. Arosemena took over the presidential palace, where his opponent had holed up.

Col. Aurelio Naranjo of the defense ministry announced the Quito garrison accepted Arosemena as president in response to popular demand.

Policeman Kills One Man, Wounds 2nd, Captures 3rd

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—One man was shot and killed, another wounded and a third captured by a police sergeant at a burglary scene on the West Side early today.

Police Sgt. William Turnball, 49, opened fire on three men he said he saw carting television sets from a broken window in a record shop of the Mahoning Plaza. He said they failed to heed his warning to halt.

Killed by a shot in the back was Ervin Eley, 22, of Youngstown. William Eley, 28, brother of Ervin, was shot in the shoulder as he sought to get away in a car. Robert Moore, 24, of Girard was captured near the scene.

Ervin Eley was free on bond awaiting grand jury action on a supermarket burglary Sept. 16. The others also had criminal records, police said.

Democrat Wins in 3 States Seen Aiding Kennedy Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana predicted today that Democratic election victories in New Jersey, New York and Texas have enhanced prospects for pushing President Kennedy's legislative program through Congress.

Mansfield said in an interview that the results reflect "a vote of confidence in the President and will strengthen his hand" with congressmen "who are adept at understanding the handwriting on the wall."

Taking much the same tack, Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey said the vote "demonstrates that the people strongly approve of the President's actions and legislative program."

Experimental Plane Kills Its Builder

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—"Well, I probably won't be seeing you anymore," Herbert Dean Jr. joked to a friend Wednesday before he took off in his home-made Delta wing airplane.

Then trouble developed 200 feet up and the plane plummeted to the turf of Bishop Airport, mortally injuring the pilot. Dean died two hours later, leaving a wife and four children.

The 33-year-old machinist labored two and a half years to build the experimental craft, named "Beckoning Angel." He told friends he had dreams of his plane as a prototype for a commercial venture.

He built the craft in the basement of his home for an estimated $6,000. In September he moved a wall to get the plane outside and to an airport for final pre-flight adjustments.

In earlier tests, he lifted "Beckoning Angel" 10 feet off the ground. A Federal Aviation Agency inspector gave an O. K. to rise 25 feet in the fatal test.

He revved up the 180-horsepower piston engine located in the rear and shot the plane down the runway. Spectators said he called "no soap" over the radio just as the craft lifted. They said it shot skyward, dipped toward the runway, then shot up a second time before falling.

He was lifted from the craft with multiple head and chest injuries and fractures of both legs.

Pressure Suit Helps Man Walk

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—John Pastor has a new suit and now he may be able to walk again.

The Air Force gave an obsolete pressure suit to the 60-year-old victim of abnormally low blood pressure. This disorder had kept him bedridden for a year. He couldn't walk 10 feet without fainting.

But with the pressure suit he can walk into his yard and back, he said Wednesday. With a pressure bulb he pumps air into its inflatable portions.

Said his wife: "We'll just have to wait and see how it works. But he was able to walk, which he couldn't do before."

Bishop Is Rescued

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Communist rebels ambushed a Roman Catholic bishop in the southern delta region Wednesday, but he was rescued by a passing military convoy.

grams to get America on the move again."

Bailey added in a statement: "I hope that it will persuade the obstructionist Republican leadership of the Congress to adopt different tactics in the next session."

Mansfield said the victories were not due only to the efforts of the candidates, but to the "final push, given by Kennedy in New Jersey and New York City and by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, who campaigned for Henry B. Gonzalez in Texas."

Gonzalez won a House seat. Kennedy appeared for Richard J. Hughes who won an upset victory in the race for governor of New Jersey and for Mayor Robert F. Wagner in his successful bid for re-election to a third term in New York City.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower also had comments Wednesday on the three races. In a statement issued at Gettysburg, Pa., he described the losses as disappointments and said they proved that manpower, money, party unity and grass roots organization are essential to victory.

Mansfield said it has been "a great autumn" for the Democratic party under Kennedy and Johnson and the election returns "clearly foreshadow the support which the American people are prepared to give the President in this decade of danger."

Among other things, Mansfield contended, the Democratic victories strengthen Kennedy's chances of passing a medical care bill for the elderly as well as an extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act.

Ike Accepts Assignment From Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy as asked former President Dwight D. Eisenhower to head a revamped "people-to-people" organization. Eisenhower says he will be delighted to serve.

The announcement that Kennedy had enlisted his predecessor's services for the first time was made by Kennedy at his news conference Wednesday.

The people-to-people program was conceived by Eisenhower in 1956 as a vast effort to establish closer personal contacts between Americans of all occupations and interests and their opposite numbers in countries all over the world.

That year an organization was formed to carry out the program. It was dissolved in June 1958, but the United States Information Agency was to help its various committees to continue functioning. USA continues to administer the program.

Eisenhower issued a statement at Gettysburg, Pa., saying he would go to Kansas City to discuss the program. The new organization has been incorporated as a non-profit corporation under the laws of Missouri, with headquarters in Kansas City.

The new organization, USA said, was made possible through financial and other assistance provided by Hallmark Foundation.

Lunch Box Cost Life Of Los Angeles Printer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A lunch box cost Michael Cuevas, 40, his life.

The employee of a printing plant ran back for his yard and back, he said Wednesday. Firemen found him suffocated in a storage room when they extinguished the $100,000 blaze at Wolfer Printing Co., a downtown firm.

Kennedy

and government but wound up: "Whether I can convince them or not, I don't know."

On other subjects, Kennedy had this to say:

South Viet Nam — Kennedy barred inquiries on what help the United States plans to extend to the beleaguered Southeast Asian country until both governments can review findings of a survey mission headed by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, the President's military adviser.

Fallout — Nuclear testing must be approached "with the greatest caution and hesitancy" because of the potential hazard from fallout, Kennedy said, but the United States must balance this with its responsibility to the Free World.

Berlin—Kennedy said it would be "wholly wrong" to suggest that West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer seeks to rearm his country in order to wreak revenge for defeats in war. He termed Adenauer's visit to Washington later this month "of vital importance" in coping with the East-West crisis in Europe.

Trade—The United States must begin reshaping its trade policies now to deal with the European Common Market, which will "present us with major economic challenges, and I hope opportunities," Kennedy said.

Kennedy said talks last week among U.S. Cabinet and Japanese officials "succeeded in extending the concept of the American-Japanese partnership to the economic and trade field."

A Good Skate

HANCOCK, Wis. (AP) — Charles W. Christianson got a lifetime pass to Lo Nor Roller Rink on his last birthday — when he turned 85.

The gift is more generous than it might appear to be. Christianson, a native of Copenhagen, Denmark, skates at the rink nearly every evening and is usually the first to arrive and the last to leave.

Christianson almost never misses a night in the winter and, despite his cultivation of a half-acre cucumber patch. He says, "Picking cucumbers all day and then roller skating at night equalizes me. I'm not tired after skating. I usually go home and read for two or three hours."

32 Red Trawlers Fish Off Cape Cod

CHATHAM, Mass. (AP) — A fleet of 32 Russian trawlers, with two mother ships, has been reported on a fishing bank only 21 miles off Cape Cod.

Five Chatham fishermen reported the Russian fleet when they returned to port Wednesday night after a day at sea.

The Russian trawlers have been seen for many months off the Cape, but this is the closest they have been to the mainland.

The bank where the Chatham men reported seeing the Russians is less than 50 miles from Hyannis Port, where President Kennedy spent many summer weekends.

Stock Market Active, but Mixed Today

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned mixed early this afternoon after four straight sessions of advance. Trading was active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .20 at 264.60 with industrials off .10, rails up .50 and utilities up .30.

With a few exceptions, gains and losses of key stocks went from fractions to about a point. The market was higher in early trading which was heavy. Profits were being taken from the start, however, and this process became more prevalent.

Analysts saw the performance as a logical breathing spell after Wednesday's impressive rally, the broadest in history and on the greatest volume since last April. General Motors, which sparked Wednesday's upsurge, was ex-dividend and off a fraction while other motors took similar losses. Steels, aircrafts, tobaccos, building materials, chemicals, nonferrous metals and oils were mixed, rails and utilities moved higher on balance. Some electronics made gains.

Kennedy

and government but wound up: "Whether I can convince them or not, I don't know."

On other subjects, Kennedy had this to say:
South Viet Nam — Kennedy barred inquiries on what help the United States plans to extend to the beleaguered Southeast Asian country until both governments can review findings of a survey mission headed by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, the President's military adviser.

Fallout — Nuclear testing must be approached "with the greatest caution and hesitancy" because of the potential hazard from fallout, Kennedy said, but the United States must balance this with its responsibility to the Free World.

Berlin — Kennedy said it would be "wholly wrong" to suggest that West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer seeks to rearm his country in order to wreak revenge for defeats in war. He termed Adenauer's visit to Washington later this month "of vital importance" in coping with the East-West crisis in Europe.

Trade — The United States must begin reshaping its trade policies now to deal with the European Common Market, which will "present us with major economic challenges, and I hope opportunities," Kennedy said.

Kennedy said talks last week among U.S. Cabinet and Japanese officials "succeeded in extending the concept of the American-Japanese partnership to the economic and trade field."

A Good Skate

HANCOCK, Wis. (AP) — Charles W. Christianson got a lifetime pass to Lo Nor Roller Rink on his last birthday — when he turned 85.

The gift is more generous than it might appear to be. Christianson, a native of Copenhagen, Denmark, skates at the rink nearly every evening and is usually the first to arrive and the last to leave.

Christianson almost never misses a night in the winter and misses very few in the summer, despite his cultivation of a half-acre cucumber patch. He says, "Pickering cucumbers all day and then roller skating at night equalizes me. I'm not tired after skating. I usually go home and read for two or three hours."

MAY BE THROWN OUT OF PARTY — These three former members of the Soviet hierarchy seem certain to be ousted from Communist Party membership soon, according to reports in Moscow. 32 Red Trawlers Fish Off Cape Cod

CHATHAM, Mass. (AP) — A fleet of 32 Russian trawlers, with two mother ships, has been reported on a fishing bank only 21 miles off Cape Cod.

Five Chatham fishermen reported the Russian fleet when they returned to port Wednesday night after a day at sea.

The Russian trawlers have been seen for many months off the Cape, but this is the closest they have been to the mainland.

The bank where the Chatham men reported seeing the Russians is less than 50 miles from Hyannis Port, where President Kennedy spent many summer weekends.

Boss of Play Wants Youths To See It All

WASHINGTON (AP)—When the curtain falls on "Sunday in New York," says producer David Merrick, the heroine is "moral, chaste and married."

He thinks the 146 teen-agers herded out of the National Theater during Monday night's Washington opening probably have the wrong impression of his show.

So Tuesday night, he invited the Sayreville, N. J., youngsters to see the play from start to finish after it opens in New York.

They were led from the Washington Theater by Principal Margaret Walsh, who said later, "This is no play for 16-year-olds." The show-stopping exodus came about 10 minutes before the first act curtain.

The principal "didn't give the play a chance," Merrick complained at a news conference. "I think it's probably one of the most moral plays I know. It winds up the way any teacher, or Sunday School teacher, would want it to wind up."

For another look at "Sunday in New York," all the youngsters have to do is produce their $1.75, second-balcony ticket stubs from the Nov. 6 performance in Washington.

Principal Walsh? "I'd be delighted to have her come, too," Merrick said. "I'll know about her; she can come in without a ticket stub."

The principal, who brought the youngsters to Washington on an overnight class trip, wasn't available for comment on Merrick's offer.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Undramatic, unsensational and, very often, uncolorful. Those are the three most consistent characteristics of President Kennedy's performance in 18 news conferences.

In other words, he operates in a low key, very often understating rather than overstating.

Presidents Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower sometimes burst into anger, sometimes rocked the house with laughter. Kennedy doesn't get angry and his humor is generally sly or subtle.

Is this deliberate policy—a thought-out technique—or is it just Kennedy? It's so consistent it's probably just Kennedy himself.

He gave an early insight into all this—although it wasn't realized at the time—at his very first presidential news conference, six days after becoming chief executive last January.

He started it by saying he had several announcements. The first was a statement about the resumption of nuclear test ban talks with the Russians at Geneva. Then he said this country would step up its famine relief to the Congo.

He reserved for last the announcement—and it made headlines later—that the Russians had released two American fliers whose RB47 bomber had been shot down by the Russians six months before.

Wednesday he had a chance to make some political hay, with broad swipes at the Republicans, when asked for comment on some Democratic victories in Tuesday's elections. He played this low-key, too by not magnifying their importance.

He has done the same in the most critical foreign problems when, with very few exceptions, he has been nonbelligerent even though his opposite number, Premier Khrushchev, was tearing up the yard with threats and thunderings.

All this raises two questions:
1 What will be the long-range effect on the American people's attitude to a President who plays it cool and doesn't make their pulse beat faster once in a while except for some of the literary touches he puts into his speeches?
2 What will be the effect overseas, among Allies and in the Communist world which, specifically in the case of Khrushchev, has been needing him and giving him abundant provocation for anger?

As for question No. 1: He's been doing all right so far from a personal standpoint. He got himself elected President and as of now he stands extremely high in the popularity polls. Whether this lasts is something else.

As for question No. 2: It should be easy for people overseas, particularly the Communist world, to look upon his restraint in the Khrushchev's threats and bomb-rattling as a mark of weakness or timidity.

Briber Sends State Check For Probe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy received a certified check for $3,000 today from George Markos to reimburse the state for the cost of investigating charges that he bribed a former Dover mayor for gambling protection.

Markos entered Ohio Penitentiary here last Monday to serve 2-20 years under the conviction that followed the investigation.

Markos, who appealed unsuccessfully all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court, also was ordered to pay Tuscarawas County $1,600 for investigation costs.

James S. Patrick, assistant county prosecutor, sent in the $3,000 check, payable to the state treasurer.

Markos was convicted on six counts of bribing former Mayor Clifford Forelich.

Froelich was acquitted of bribe charges. He admitted publicly that he accepted $1,500 from Markos but said the money went to the Salvation Army or was used to buy trash cans for the city. He did not seek re-election for a fourth term.

Two other gambling figures, in addition to Markos, were convicted of bribery and are appealing. They are Joseph Adelstein and Fred Bergquist.

himself were not the reason, it would be easy to understand why Kennedy has so quietly handled the Berlin crisis created by Khrushchev: The Allies themselves have not agreed on what to do.

Nevertheless, Kennedy's reticence with Khrushchev may have borne good fruit.

Khrushchev gives the impression of a man who is anxious to cover up some inner uncertainty by over-aggressiveness. At the rate he was going it would have been easy for him to talk himself into a war.

If Kennedy had tried to outdo Khrushchev in a shouting match the Russian might have been rendered so self-conscious that, feeling challenged to make good on his threats, he'd think he had to.

Kennedy forced no such challenge on him. Now Khrushchev is making milder sounds. A reasonable settlement may now be possible but would have been rendered impossible if Kennedy had tried to out-Khrushchev Khrushchev.

Kennedy, instead of slamming the door on reason, left it open. Whether Khrushchev walks in—or whether he thinks Kennedy's reticence is timidity and therefore something to be used and abused—remains for the future.

But so does any valid and final appraisal of whether Kennedy's sometimes uncolorful handling of the presidency is better or worse than a more vibrant method.

Boss of Play Wants Youths To See It All

WASHINGTON (AP)—When the curtain falls on "Sunday in New York," says producer David Merrick, the heroine is "moral, chaste and married."

He thinks the 146 teen-agers herded out of the National Theater during Monday night's Washington opening probably have the wrong impression of his show.

So Tuesday night, he invited the Sayreville, N. J., youngsters to see the play from start to finish after it opens in New York.

They were led from the Washington Theater by Principal Margaret Walsh, who said later, "This is no play for 16-year-olds." The show-stopping exodus came about 10 minutes before the first act curtain.

The principal "didn't give the play a chance," Merrick complained at a news conference. "I think it's probably one of the most moral plays I know. It winds up the way any teacher, or Sunday School teacher, would want it to wind up."

For another look at "Sunday in New York," all the youngsters have to do to produce their $1.75, second-balcony ticket stubs from the Nov. 6 performance in Washington.

Principal Walsh? "I'd be delighted to have her come, too," Merrick said. "I'll know about her; she can come in without a ticket stub."

The principal, who brought the youngsters to Washington on an overnight class trip, wasn't available for comment on Merrick's offer.

Economy Move

President Kennedy's order to tighten up federal spending is good news, whatever the cause and whatever its effect. Even a small reduction would be welcome in what has begun to resemble an irreversible process of higher and higher spending.

The immediate cause of the President's concern is the current deficit, which threatens to go to $7 billion or more, though originally expected to be less than $3 billion. Sharp criticism of his fiscal policies has doubtless been a major factor in the sudden White House concern about spending.

A more conservative fiscal line could help soften the opposition which gave the President so much trouble in Congress.

But how much actual saving will be accomplished by the ordered belt-tightening is open to question. It is fair to point out that 'economy drives' were a frequent feature of the Eisenhower administration, but rarely resulted in more than minor savings.

Even minor savings in prospect are welcome; even more welcome is the repeated prediction of a balanced budget for fiscal 1963. But the approach to government spending should be an unshakable determination to balance taxes and spending which would make last minute economy drives unnecessary.

Drive-In Shelters

It had been predicted but dreaded. Now Kentucky's Sen. Thurston Morton has sent a letter to the White House outlining a plan for drive-in fallout shelters.

Morton wrote that the big fill holes left by highway builders could be turned into shelters and covered with dirt while the highway earth movers were still handy. Presidential handyman Lawrence O'Brien said President Kennedy found the idea "very interesting." A masterpiece of understatement.

All previous shelter plans have had one gaping drawback: most Americans spend a great deal of time on the road, and they cannot take their home or office shelters with them. Roadside shelters would fill the gap.

During the 5 o'clock rush, the alarm sirens sound. Each motorist, having memorized the location of the nearest roadside shelter, heads for the gulch. Thirty cars arrive at the entrance simultaneously. Is this a time for courtesy?

The first half dozen cars jockey toward the entrance, collide and block the shelter completely. Americans will not wait five minutes in the parking lot after a football game. Are they likely to become rivalrous when survival is at stake?

And assuming some drivers to make it into the shelter after the fender-banging. Can you imagine spending two weeks cooped up with the guy who clobbered your brand new hardtop?

List of Non-Accomplishments

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—It's easy to figure out what you've done in life.

You probably can write the important things down on a small piece of paper.

But if you want to really spend an interesting evening, here's something to do. Sit down with a notebook and scribble in it all the things you haven't done in life—things you might have fretted yourself gray-haired over to accomplish, but which somehow you didn't get around to.

They might tell you more about what kind of a human being you are than the things you have done.

Here is one man's list of non-accomplishments at the half-century mark:

Never shot a deer.
Never shook hands with a king or shared a cookie at tea with a queen.

Never slept overnight at the White House, but did manage to snatch a few restful catnaps during several presidential press conferences.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

FOUR STAID, successful Minneapolis business moguls invested jointly in a hunting lodge deep in the northern woods, and thither they were wont to repair for a fortnight twice a year. "Roughing it is what we want," they would tell their wives, "No hot water, no modern conveniences — and above all, no women!"

One October the four deserted ladies decided to surprise their husbands and followed them to their woodland lair. They were stopped at the gate, however, by a wizened old guide. "You gals better beat it quick if you know what's good for you," he advised. "This time these fellows brought their wives with them!"

1. False. Asthma erupts when allergic strikes your air passages. Here, allergenic chemicals unleash violent histamine. Bronchial tubes tighten, lining swells and passages fill with gobs of mucus.

Allergy shots whip up special antibodies that keep allergic chemicals from penetrating into air passages. If you give up allergy-causing foods — say, strawberries — you won't need allergy shots.

2. True. Both cold air and irritating dust can trigger asthma. Heaters warm the air but fan dust around the room.

For house dust allergy — (1) Remove drapes, rugs, chenilles, spreads and stuffed furniture from the bedroom. (2) Cover feather pillows and stuffed mattresses with heavy plastic covers — check the box springs for stuffing, too.

(3) Wipe away dangerous dust with daily damp-mopping. (4) Ask your doctor about allergy shots for dust, pollen, molds and danders.

3. False. Antihistamine medicines can stave off an asthma attack, but once asthma starts, antihistamines dry mucous, clogging air passages. Even choking spasms can't raise this dry mucus.

4. True. Every breath blows off a little moisture. When asthma makes you pant, you pour water into the air like a human vaporizer. Bronchial mucous dries and thickens.

Water, juices, pop and soups all help replace this lost fluid. Inhale extra moisture, too. That vaporizer not only moistens mucous, but prevents you from drying out.

5. False. Simple prescriptions can usually relieve bronchial spasm, shrink swollen lining, moisten mucous and relieve asthma. When colds and sore throats trigger wintery asthma, antibiotic germ - killers help, too.

Doctors reserve cortisone — and its powerful relatives — for severe asthma that can't be brought under control. It's the four - alarm cure!

Variety of Ideas

By George Sokolsky

Many are puzzled by the difference between Socialism and Communism and write inquiring whether there is really a difference. There are many forms of confusion arising from the disassociation of word from fact.

If, instead of using the words Socialism and Communism, we speak of Marxism, we come closer to the truth. Karl Marx, in association with Friedrich Engels, in 1848 wrote a pamphlet, "The Communist Manifesto," in which they attempted to recite concisely a theory of social development based on the evolution of mankind by historic forces.

"The history of all hitherto existing society is the history of class struggles.

"Freeman and slave, patrician and plebeian, lord and serf, guild-master and journeyman, in a word, oppressor and oppressed, stood in constant opposition to one another, carried on an unintermittent, now hidden, now open fight, a fight that each time ended, either in a revolutionary reconstitution of society at large, or in the common ruin of the contending classes."

But "The Communist Manifesto" is not the entire story. Hegel, A German philosopher, was laying the bases for modern Socialism; Bakunin was advocating a form of Anarchism; Ferdinand LaSalle propounded a form of Socialism akin to the reformism of the "New Deal" and his ideas were accepted by Bismarck. Many ideas were being circulated at this time. As Karl Marx said: "Hitherto, it was the mission of philosophers to interpret the world; now, it is our business to change it."

The socialist movement can be traced back to the immediate aftermath of the French Revolution. If it is possible to have political equality, why not social and economic equality? Many attempts were made during the 1830's to effect these changes by mass demonstrations. In 1844, the "Society of the Democratic Friends of All Nations" was organized but it was difficult to do more than stir up a sentiment for Socialism — that is, government ownership of the means of production and distribution and exchange.

Karl Marx was able to devote himself entirely to changing the world, not only by writing books and pamphlets but by organizing "The Worker's Educational Society" and similar organizations in European countries. Marx became a clearing house for these socialist organizations.

The "Communist League" was organized in 1847. It was for this association of socialist, reformist and other Leftist groups that "The Communist Manifesto" was written. It was an error to assume that all of Marxism is stated in "The Communist Manifesto". Marx was a prolific writer on a myriad of subjects and to the student of Socialism, some of his other writings are more important but the "Manifesto" established a working class movement which abandoned the Nationalism of the French Revolution and the Anarchism of those who held that all government is evil.

It needs to be pointed out that many socialistic concepts were accepted by various European governments, particularly Prussia and other German states, the Scandinavian countries and Great Britain.

From many standpoints the reformist ideas of Marx and Engels were making great headway throughout the world. The changes were not systematic, but met immediate circumstances in certain countries. In 1903, the Russian Social Democratic Party met in London. This meeting divided into two groups, the Majority or Bolshevik Group being led by Lenin. Most of those who attended this conference were refugees from Czarism who lived abroad. Lenin believed in the permanent revolution, in change as a necessity of historic development.

Bolshevism made no progress until the war of 1914-17, in which Russia was defeated. It was then possible for Lenin and his associates to seize power and to establish a Communist government; that is, one in which all democratic processes were abolished, in which the state was taken over by the Communist Party which held the country in tutelage as a manifestation of the dictatorship of the proletariat.

The essential difference between one form of Socialism and another is a matter of speed. For instance, one does not think of Theodore Roosevelt, Robert La Follette or William Jennings Bryan as Socialists; yet some of the reforms they advocated were definitely socialistic, as, for instance, the income tax. On the other hand, the speed of revolution and change, the abolition of all forms of democracy, the dictatorial authority of the state as manifest in all Soviet countries — this is called Communism. But the father of all these movements was Karl Marx.

Economy Move

President Kennedy's order to tighten up federal spending is good news, whatever the cause and whatever its effect. Even a small reduction would be welcome in what has begun to resemble an irreversible process of higher and higher spending.

The immediate cause of the President's concern is the current deficit, which threatens to go to $7 billion or more, though originally expected to be less than $3 billion. Sharp criticism of his fiscal policies has doubtless been a major factor in the sudden White House concern about spending.

A more conservative fiscal line could help soften the opposition which gave the President so much trouble in Congress.

But how much actual saving will be accomplished by the ordered belt-tightening is open to question. It is fair to point out that 'economy drives' were a frequent feature of the Eisenhower administration, but rarely resulted in more than minor savings.

Even minor savings in prospect are welcome; even more welcome is the repeated prediction of a balanced budget for fiscal 1963. But the approach to government spending should be an unshakable determination to balance taxes and spending which would make last minute economy drives unnecessary.

Drive-In Shelters

It had been predicted but dreaded. Now Kentucky's Sen. Thurston Morton has sent a letter to the White House outlining a plan for drive-in fallout shelters.

Morton wrote that the big fill holes left by highway builders could be turned into shelters and covered with dirt while the highway earth movers were still handy. Presidential handyman Lawrence O'Brien said President Kennedy found the idea "very interesting." A masterpiece of understatement.

All previous shelter plans have had one gaping drawback: most Americans spend a great deal of time on the road, and they cannot take their home or office shelters with them. Roadside shelters would fill the gap.

During the 5 o'clock rush, the alarm sirens sound. Each motorist, having memorized the location of the nearest roadside shelter, heads for the gulch. Thirty cars arrive at the entrance simultaneously. Is this a time for courtesy?

The first half dozen cars jockey toward the entrance, collide and block the shelter completely. Americans will not wait five minutes in the parking lot after a football game. Are they likely to become rivalrous when survival is at stake?

1. False. Asthma erupts when allergy strikes your air passages. Here, allergic chemicals unleash violent histamine. Bronchial tubes tighten, lining swells and passages fill with gobs of mucus.

Allergy shots whip up special antibodies that keep allergic chemicals from penetrating into air passages. If you give up allergy-causing foods — say, strawberries — you won't need allergy shots.

2. True. Both cold air and irritating dust can trigger asthma. Heaters warm the air but fan dust around the room.

For house dust allergy — (1) Remove drapes, rugs, chenilles, spreads and stuffed furniture from the bedroom. (2) Cover feather pillows and stuffed mattresses with heavy plastic covers — check the box springs for stuffing, too. (3) Wipe away dangerous dust with daily damp-mopping. (4) Ask your doctor about allergy shots for dust, pollen, molds and danders.

3. False. Antihistamine medicines can stave off an asthma attack, but once asthma starts, antihistamines dry mucous, clogging air passages. Even choking spasms can't raise this dry mucous.

4. True. Every breath blows off a little moisture. When asthma makes you pant, you pour water into the air like a human vaporizer. Bronchial mucous dries and thickens.

Water, juices, pop and soups all help replace this lost fluid. Inhale extra moisture, too. That vaporizer not only moistens mucous, but prevents you from drying out.

5. False. Simple prescriptions can usually relieve bronchial spasm, shrink swollen lining, moisten mucous and relieve asthma. When colds and sore throats trigger wintry asthma, antibiotic germ - killers help, too.

Doctors reserve cortisone — and its powerful relatives — for severe asthma that can't be brought under control. It's the four - alarm cure!

Variety of Ideas

By George Sokolsky

Many are puzzled by the difference between Socialism and Communism and write inquiring whether there is really a difference. There are many forms of confusion arising from the disassociation of word from fact.

If, instead of using the words Socialism and Communism, we speak of Marxism, we come closer to the truth. Karl Marx, in association with Friedrich Engels, in 1848 wrote a pamphlet, "The Communist Manifesto," in which they attempted to recite concisely a theory of social development based on the evolution of mankind by historic forces.

"The history of all hitherto existing society is the history of class struggles.

"Freeman and slave, patrician and plebeian, lord and serf, guild-master and journeyman, in a word, oppressor and oppressed, stood in constant opposition to one another, carried on an uninterrupted, now hidden, now open fight, a fight that each time ended, either in a revolutionary reconstitution of society at large, or in the common ruin of the contending classes."

But "The Communist Manifesto" is not the entire story. Hegel, a German philosopher, was laying the bases for modern Socialism; Bakunin was advocating a form of Anarchism; Ferdinand LaSalle propounded a form of Socialism akin to the reformism of the "New Deal" and his ideas were accepted by Bismarck. Many ideas were being circulated at this time. As Karl Marx said: "Hitherto, it was the mission of philosophers to interpret the world; now, it is our business to change it."

The socialist movement can be traced back to the immediate aftermath of the French Revolution. If it is possible to have political equality, why not social and economic equality? Many attempts were made during the 1830's to effect these changes by mass demonstrations. In 1844, the "Society of the Democratic Friends of All Nations" was organized but it was difficult to do more than stir up a sentiment for Socialism — that is, government ownership of the means of production and distribution and exchange.

Karl Marx was able to devote himself entirely to changing the world, not only by writing books and pamphlets but by organizing "The Worker's Educational Society" and similar organizations in European countries. Marx became a clearing house for these socialist organizations.

The "Communist League" was organized in 1847. It was for this association of socialist, reformist and other Leftist groups that "The Communist Manifesto" was written. It was an error to assume that all of Marxism is stated in "The Communist Manifesto". Marx was a prolific writer on a myriad of subjects and to the student of Socialism, some of his other writings are more important but the "Manifesto" established a working class movement which abandoned the Nationalism of the French Revolution and the Anarchism of those who held that all government is evil.

It needs to be pointed out that many socialistic concepts were accepted by various European governments, particularly Prussia and other German states, the Scandinavian countries and Great Britain.

From many standpoints the reformist ideas of Marx and Engels were making great headway throughout the world. The changes were not systematic, but met immediate circumstances in certain countries. In 1903, the Russian Social Democratic Party met in London. This meeting divided into two groups, the Majority or Bolshevik Group being led by Lenin. Most of those who attended this conference were refugees from Czarism who

Store Patrolled By 7 Dobermans

Guards send forth two Doberman Pinschers on night patrol of the first floor of the department store.

By MARGUERITE TAZELAAR...
Central Press Association
Correspondent

NEW YORK — On the roof of a department store here, 20 stories above the busy traffic at Broadway and 34th Street, the grandchildren of four pure bred Doberman Pinschers live like princelings. All were born on the roof covering the block square building, and one grandfather, now 10 years old, lives with them.

Each of the seven animals has its own kennel and a handler, who daily combs, exercises and manicures it. They are fed choice cuts of steak and other tempting tidbits, as well as vitamins.

Valued at $1,000 apiece, these dogs have been trained to guard Macy's, which employs 14,000 persons and whose merchandise runs into millions. The original four, Suzy, Cash, Mom and Red Star, were acquired in 1952, when a rash of robberies after closing hours, including one of $12,000 in furs, caused the owners considerable anguish.

They consulted John Behan, well-known trainer of dogs and author of "Dogs of War," a book based on his experiences in the armed services during the last war as trainer of dogs for overseas duty. He now operates "canine college" in New York, with a campus in West Redding, Conn., where dogs are trained for special purposes.

Behan recommended Doberman Pinschers because they are alert, have high intelligence and have short hair, which prevents them from suffering from heat and humidity in summer. After eight weeks' training in West Redding, in a simulated environment like the store's, the young dogs had learned how to apprehend and hold a prowler until help came; how to detect fire, smoke and running water; how to keep fire-scapes clear and how not to leap off the high places, as their new home was to be a penthouse.

Today, only one of the original four dogs is alive, Red Star, who still is working. The other three have passed on to their just reward, but their progeny does them proud, born to the royal blood, as it were.

These six dogs, ranging in age from five to seven years, with Red Star who is able to sniff out a prowler with the best of them, report for duty when the store closes, usually at 6 p. m., to patrol the 19 floors with handlers throughout the night.

The dogs work only two hours at a time, when they are given a rest period. They have caught prowlers, but have never injured any while holding a thief for the arrival of a security officer. They have also prevented fires by sniffing out smoke.

Frank Fay, head of the store's security, says that since trained dogs have been installed in the store, no thefts have occurred after closing hours, in contrast to 15 major lootings prior to October 1952, during a nine-month period.

There is a fraternity, he says which deals solely in department store thievery. Members hide in clothes racks, in the bedding and furniture departments or other places of concealment, and after closing time help themselves to what they want. They wait between the watchmen's patrols and later let themselves and their booty out of the building.

After watchdogs were introduced at Macy's, thieves passed up the store. Word gets around said Fay. Not many criminals care to get mauled by a dog trained to protect property.

So effective has been this remedy in preventing thefts, that sometimes the store management loans the dogs to suburban stores, Bamberger's in Newark, in particular. Not only have the dogs saved the company thousands of dollars in stock, but in lives of watchmen, too, Fay believes.

Besides Macy's, John Behan has trained dogs for guard duty for Jordan - Marsh in Boston, with equal success. He would like to see big stores all over the country make use of trained dogs. He believes owners would find the cost of these trained animals a financial investment that pays off.

Trained dogs are being used more frequently in industry these days, he added, for protection of factories, stores, art galleries, even schools. In 1958, he trained a German shepherd as sentry for a million-dollar school being erected in Great Neck on Long Island. When the building, was completed the dog was retained to protect property at night against thieving and vandalism and by day to watch over the children on the playground, for whom he had become a pet. The school board acknowledged the value of the dog in saving the tax payers money.

On his 14 - acre estate in West Redding, Behan directs the "canine college." A reception center at 449 East 86th Street here registers the animals, which range from Pomeranians to Great Danes. They are transported by station-wagon to the campus where the dogs are trained by an expert staff as watchdogs; to overcome bad habits, such as barking, and for obedience.

Three A's top Behan's rules for training animals. They are affection, appraisal and authority. Like humans, dogs want to be loved, praised and to respect others, he says, and added that harsh treatment seldom brings results.

Store Patrolled By 7 Dobermans

Guards send forth two Doberman Pinschers on night patrol of the first floor of the department store.

By MARGUERITE TAZELAAR...
Central Press Association
Correspondent

NEW YORK — On the roof of a department store here, 20 stories above the busy traffic at Broadway and 34th Street, the grandchildren of four pure bred Doberman Pinschers live like prince-lings. All were born on the roof covering the block square building, and one grandfather, now 10 years old, lives with them.

Each of the seven animals has its own kennel and a handler, who daily combs, exercises and manicures it. They are fed choice cuts of steak and other tempting tidbits, as well as vitamins.

Valued at $1,000 apiece, these dogs have been trained to guard Macy's, which employs 14,000 persons and whose merchandise runs into millions. The original four, Suzy, Cash, Mom and Red Star, were acquired in 1952, when a rash of robberies after closing hours, including one of $12,000 in furs, caused the owners considerable anguish.

They consulted John Behan, well-known trainer of dogs and author of "Dogs of War," a book based on his experiences in the armed services during the last war as trainer of dogs for overseas duty. He now operates "canine college" in New York, with a campus in West Redding, Conn., where dogs are trained for special purposes.

Behan recommended Doberman Pinschers because they are alert, have high intelligence and have short hair, which prevents them from suffering from heat and humidity in summer. After eight weeks' training in West Redding, in a simulated environment like the store's, the young dogs had learned how to apprehend and hold a prowler until help came; how to detect fire, smoke and running water; how to keep fire-scapes clear and how not to leap off the high places, as their new home was to be a penthouse.

Today, only one of the original four dogs is alive, Red Star, who still is working. The other three have passed on to their just reward, but their progeny does them proud, born to the royal blood, as it were.

These six dogs, ranging in age from five to seven years, with Red Star who is able to sniff out a prowler with the best of them, report for duty when the store closes, usually at 6 p. m., to patrol the 19 floors with handlers throughout the night.

The dogs work only two hours at a time, when they are given a rest period. They have caught prowlers, but have never injured any while holding a thief for the arrival of a security officer. They have also prevented fires by sniffing out smoke.

Frank Fay, head of the store's security, says that since trained dogs have been installed in the store, no thefts have occurred after closing hours, in contrast to 15 major lootings prior to October 1952, during a nine-month period.

There is a fraternity, he says which deals solely in department store thievery. Members hide in clothes racks, in the bedding and furniture departments or other places of concealment, and after closing time help themselves to what they want. They wait between the watchmen's patrols and later let themselves and their booty out of the building.

After watchdogs were introduced at Macy's, thieves passed up the store. Word gets around said Fay. Not many criminals care to get mauled by a dog trained to protect property.

So effective has been this remedy in preventing thefts, that sometimes the store management loans the dogs to suburban stores, Bamberger's in Newark, in particular. Not only have the dogs saved the company thousands of dollars in stock, but in lives of watchmen, too, Fay believes.

Besides Macy's, John Behan has trained dogs for guard duty for Jordan - Marsh in Boston, with equal success. He would like to see big stores all over the country make use of trained dogs. He believes owners would find the cost of these trained animals a financial investment that pays off.

Trained dogs are being used more frequently in industry these days, he added, for protection of factories, stores, art galleries, even schools. In 1958, he trained a German shepherd as sentry for a million-dollar school being erected in Great Neck on Long Island. When the building, was completed the dog was retained to protect property at night against thieving and vandalism and by day to watch over the children on the playground, for whom he had become a pet. The school board acknowledged the value of the dog in saving the tax payers money.

On his 14 - acre estate in West Redding, Behan directs the "canine college." A reception center at 449 East 86th Street here registers the animals, which range from Pomeranians to Great Danes. They are transported by station-wagon to the campus where the dogs are trained by an expert staff as watchdogs; to overcome bad habits, such as barking, and for obedience.

Three A's top Behan's rules for training animals. They are affection, appraisal and authority. Like humans, dogs want to be loved, praised and to respect others, he says, and added that harsh treatment seldom brings results.

Pickaway Garden Club Session Features Workshop

Pickaway Garden Club members are watching their calendars closely these days in order to dovetail all the holiday events which have been scheduled.

The annual Christmas meeting was held Monday in Cleveland. All affiliate members of the Garden Club of Ohio were invited to attend. Mrs. John Knight of Akron, noted arranger and demonstrator, was guest speaker. She made arrangements and table decorations.

An arrangement of pink roses and snapdragons made by Mrs. Knight for a tea table proved to be a meeting highlight not soon to be forgotten by the members. Mrs. Knight commented that she had added "glitter" to this arrangement although this was not in the approved manner.

Members traveled to Cleveland via bus which left the American Hotel at 5 a. m. Coffee and doughnuts were served en route and the travelers were provided a box supper on the way home.

Attending the all-day event were: Mrs. Schubert Measamer, Mrs. Paul White, Mrs. Karl Seyforth, Mrs. Harry Heffner, Mrs. Luther Bower, Mrs. Dudley Carpenter, Mrs. Turney Pontius, Mrs. Donald Archer, Mrs. Ed Fetherolf, Mrs. Emmitt Barnhart, Mrs. John Eshelman, Mrs. G. G. Campbell, Mrs. A. P. McCoard, Mrs. Oscar Root, Mrs. Charles Thompson and Mrs. David Craven.

Tuesday, Mrs. Ray Carroll was hostess to the Pickaway Garden Club monthly workshop. Members brought material, both dried and fresh, for making Thanksgiving arrangements. Mrs. Measamer served as workshop instructor. Mrs. Moffitt, workshop committee chairman, assisted.

After the arrangements were completed, Mrs. Measamer and Mrs. Richard Jones gave short comments.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Attending the workshop were: Mrs. Carroll, Mrs. Measamer, Mrs. Moffitt, Mrs. McCoard, Mrs. Robert Jones, Mrs. Richard Jones, Mrs. Archer, Mrs. Melvin Struckman, Mrs. Shelby Tegard and Mrs. John Eshelman.

Mrs. Struckman exhibited a basket of buckeyes which she presented to the arrangers for their Thanksgiving arrangements.

Mrs. Moffitt announced that the next workshop would be an all-day luncheon meeting scheduled to begin at 10 a. m. Nov. 30, in the home of Mrs. Carroll. Members are requested to bring material for "Della Robbia" wreaths and Christmas swags.

Pickaway Winners Are Announced

Pickaway County winners in the regional "Make It Yourself With Wool" contest have been announced by the District Supervisor, Mrs. James Hadley of Wilmington.

The contest, sponsored on a national level by the American Wool Council, was held recently in Denver Place School, Wilmington.

Local contestants receiving awards included: fifth place winner in the Adult Division, Mrs. Louis Eyeran, 8815 Jackson Park, Lockbourne, and honorable mention in the Senior Division, Beverly McKenzie, Route 1.

High score winners in the various divisions included two from Pickaway County: Senior Division, Beverly McKenzie, Route 1, and Junior Division, Susan LaVeck, Route 1. Each received a high quality wool skirt length.

Cornbread tastes best when it's served hot. If there is any left-over, split and toast it; butter it in the kitchen or at the table. Toasted cornbread makes an excellent base for creamed chicken, tuna fish or vegetables.

In a hurry: Ad fresh lemon juice to homemade mayonnaise and serve with heated canned or hot cooked frozen asparagus instead of hollandaise sauce. Have the mayonnaise at room temperature; it's not necessary to heat it. Make the mayonnaise when you have time and keep it stored in a covered container in the refrigerator.

Fine Fashions For Americans

A BOLD PLAID in navy, gold and maroon on a white ground is used for this outfit.

By SUSAN BARDEN
The styles set by our own American designers this season are, we believe, as new, chic and wearable as any thing that has come from the European haute couture.

These fashions show a definite return to the grand-mannered silhouette that subtly fits the figure and has an almost casual air. While there is no obvious return to yesterday, there is a definite reaction against the distorted or unbalanced lines that were prevalent a few years back.

There are a great number of interesting and quietly dramatic shapes in coats, suits, costumes and daytime dresses. What they have in common is a sympathetic understanding of the feminine form.

They all have an easy fit and are made of woolen.

Perfect for either town or country is the bulky blanket plaid with a large white button closing on the jacket.

Another popular model is a box-jacketed suit which has the added attraction of a leopard fur full-in at the neckline.

A third suit features a knit blouse top which matches its braids and buttons.

Personals

Melody Shea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Shea, 1015 Sunshine St., will appear in the Heidelberg College production of "Madwomen of Chailott". The play is being produced by the Little Theater group of the college at Tiffin. O. Miss Shea, a sophomore speech and English major, is a member of the Eugglossian Society, Pi Kappa Delta and the school debate team.

Monrovia Club Members Attend Columbus Meeting

Eighteen members of the Monrovia Garden Club motored to Columbus Monday evening for the club's November meeting held in the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., 215 N. Front St. Guests were present from the So-laqua, Groveport and Williamsport Garden Clubs.

Mrs. Clyde Michel, newly-elected president, conducted a short business meeting and announced that club members will participate in a radio program Nov. 14.

Mrs. Michel urged all club members to attend a regional meeting Nov. 15 in the United Brethren Church, corner of Main and Brown Sts., Chillicothe.

Mrs. Mary Faulkenburg, of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., was guest speaker. She gave an interesting and educational talk on the topic "Christmas Lighting for the Home" and explained the technique of making various Christmas arrangements using electric lighting. Following demonstration, Mrs. Faulkenburg presented a booklet "Celebrate Christmas With Light" to each member.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served from a beautifully appointed tea table.

The December meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Everett Grabill. Mrs. Kenneth Gossard and Mrs. Raymond Grabill will be assisting hostesses.

The Right Foundation For Teen-Age Figures

By ELEANOR ROSS
There are very few girls who do not thrill at the prospect of their very first bra, their first garter belt.

If the garter belt is one of the pretty, lacy type well, so much the better, for it is featherlight and comfortable to wear.

Choosing foundation garments for a brand - new teen deserves careful thought.

The bras should allow for growing bosoms, with some sort of practical expansion feature. The panty girdles or panty garter belts should exert only the slightest control. And with all this, the garments for the teenage group should be as pretty as a swim suit or party dress.

If all this seems a big bill of specifications, it is good to know that designers and manufacturers are very much aware of these demands.

Among the smart, intimate fashions which have recently appeared is the bloomer garter belt. This is of the length and general design of close - fitting panties, but the curved sides are bloomer - shaped and trimmed with frothy nylon lace.

Nylon stretch lace is used for the lower half of another panty garter belt, with the top made of a light - as - air stretchable material.

Satin elastic garter belts are embroidered with blue roses and decorated with blue scalloped stitching. No need to urge a young teen to do one of these models!

As for the bras, some are gently foam - contoured, lined for comfort and strapless.

The bras with comfortable straps made of satin elastic laminated to flannel are excellent for getting young girls used to shoulder straps.

When a single bra has detachable straps, a non - slip back and pin tabs, it is virtually a bra wardrobe in itself, and it is easy to sell a young girl on the idea.

It is wise when starting your young daughter on her first foundation garment wardrobe to teach her the necessity of the proper care of each garment. Let her launder her own and impress upon her that daintiness requires a clean bra every day.

Since bras dry easily overnight, she can suds and rinse her garments at bedtime. A freshly-washed panty garter belt is a must, too, for the well - groomed dainty girl.

Show daughter how to shape a damp bra or panty with her fingers so that it dries smooth, remains in shape and looks like new. Remind her that elasticized materials should be dried at room temperature and never close to direct heat.

Start daughter off with at least two of each type of foundation garment that you choose for her — one to wear and one to wash. That way, there will always be a clean foundation garment twosome in the lingerie drawer.

The prices of these garments are so reasonable that such an outfit isn't a budget - denter.

A DOUBLE-BREASTED box jacket is teamed with an easy skirt in this suit.

Do you have a nutmeg grater? Put it on the table when you serve a fruit pudding with a topping of whipped cream. The freshly grated spice is delightful wafted over the dessert.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

They Have a Lot To Learn

DEAR ABBY: What can a 13-year-old girl do about parents who expect her to be polite to them, but who say, "Do the dishes or you'll get your head knocked off!"

I try hard to please them and I don't mind helping with the housework, but can't they say, "Will you please?"

"MISS TREATED": It's a pity more parents don't realize the wonders to be worked through common courtesy with their youngsters. But don't YOU try to teach them, Honey. Just remember it when you have children of your own.

DEAR ABBY: I have a little problem with a mother-in-law who means well but is not as understanding as she could be. She is a "saver" and has saved all my husband's clothes since he was a small boy. That was 29 years ago. We now have a son who is almost five, and my mother-in-law insists on giving me all my husband's old clothes for my son to wear. We are not rich, but we can afford to buy clothes for our son. My husband doesn't want to hurt his mother and neither do I, but how can we avoid it?

MY PROBLEM
DEAR PROBLEM: Accept them graciously, and then quietly pass them on to the Red Cross or the Salvation Army for folks who are more concerned with keeping their bodies covered than being stylishly dressed.

DEAR ABBY: I have been courting a widow for about ten years. She keeps saying she can't marry me until her daughter gets married. Her daughter is 29 years old and hasn't even got a boy friend. My friends tell me that this woman is just using her daughter as an excuse, and has no intention of marrying me. I am 64, own my own home and am

Pickaway County winners in the regional "Make It Yourself With Wool" contest have been announced by the District Supervisor, Mrs. James Hadley of Wilmington.

The contest, sponsored on a national level by the American Wool Council, was held recently in Denver Place School, Wilmington.

Local contestants receiving awards included: fifth place winner in the Adult Division, Mrs. Louis Eyerman, 8815 Jackson Park, Lockbourne, and honorable mention in the Senior Division, Beverly McKenzie, Route 1.

High score winners in the various divisions included two from Pickaway County: Senior Division, Beverly McKenzie, Route 1, and Junior Division, Susan LaVeck, Route 1. Each received a high quality wool skirt length.

Cornbread tastes best when it's served hot. If there is any left over, split and toast it; butter it in the kitchen or at the table. Toasted cornbread makes an excellent base for creamed chicken, tuna fish or vegetables.

In a hurry: Ad fresh lemon juice to homemade mayonnaise and serve with heated canned or hot cooked frozen asparagus instead of hollandaise sauce. Have the mayonnaise at room temperature; it's not necessary to heat it. Make the mayonnaise when you have time and keep it stored in a covered container in the refrigerator.

Fine Fashions For Americans

A BOLD PLAID in navy, gold and maroon on a white ground is used for this outfit.

By SUSAN BARDEN
The styles set by our own American designers this season are, we believe, as new, chic and wearable as any thing that has come from the European haute couture.

These fashions show a definite return to the grand-mannered silhouette that subtly fits the figure and has an almost casual air. While there is no obvious return to yesterday, there is a definite reaction against the distorted or unbalanced lines that were prevalent a few years back.

There are a great number of interesting and quietly dramatic shapes in coats, suits, costumes and daytime dresses. What they have in common is a sympathetic understanding of the feminine form.

They all have an easy fit and are made of woolen. Perfect for either town or country is the bulky blanket plaid with a large white button closing on the jacket.

Another popular model is a box-jacketed suit which has the added attraction of a leopard fur fill-in at the neckline.

A third suit features a knit blouse top which matches its braid trim and buttons.

Melody Shea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Shea, 1015 Sunshine St., will appear in the Heidelberg College production of "Madwomen of Chailott". The play is being produced by the Little Theater group of the college at Tiffin, O. Miss Shea, a sophomore speech and English major, is a member of the Euglossian Society, Pi Kappa Delta and the school debate team.

Monrovia Club Members Attend Columbus Meeting

Eighteen members of the Monrovia Garden Club motored to Columbus Monday evening for the club's November meeting held in the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., 215 N. Front St. Guests were present from the So-laqua, Groveport and Williamsport Garden Clubs.

Mrs. Clyde Michel, newly-elected president, conducted a short business meeting and announced that club members will participate in a radio program Nov. 14.

Mrs. Michel urged all club members to attend a regional meeting Nov. 15 in the United Brethren Church, corner of Main and Brown Sts., Chillicothe.

Mrs. Mary Faulkenburg, of the

Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., was guest speaker. She gave an interesting and educational talk on the topic "Christmas Lighting For the Home" and explained the technique of making various Christmas arrangements using electric lighting. Following demonstration, Mrs. Faulkenburg presented a booklet "Celebrate Christmas With Light" to each member.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served from a beautifully appointed tea table.

The December meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Everett Grabbil, Mrs. Kenneth Gossard and Mrs. Raymond Grabbil will be assisting hostesses.

The Right Foundation For Teen-Age Figures

By ELEANOR ROSS
There are very few girls who do not thrill at the prospect of their very first bra, their first garter belt.

If the garter belt is one of the pretty, lacy type well, so much the better, for it is featherlight and comfortable to wear.

Choosing foundation garments for a brand - new teen deserves careful thought.

The bras should allow for growing bosoms, with some sort of practical expansion feature. The panty girdles or panty garter belts should exert only the slightest control. And with all this, the garments for the teenage group should be as pretty as a swim suit or party dress.

If all this seems a big bill of specifications, it is good to know that designers and manufacturers are very much aware of these demands.

Among the smart, intimate fashions which have recently appeared is the bloomer garter belt. This is of the length and general design of close-fitting panties, but the curved sides are bloomer-shaped and trimmed with frothy nylon lace.

Nylon stretch lace is used for the lower half of another panty garter belt, with the top made of a light - as - air stretchable material.

Satin elastic garter belts are embroidered with blue roses and decorated with blue scalloped stitching. No need to urge a young teen to done one of these models!

As for the bras, some are gently foam - contoured, lined for comfort and strapless.

The bras with comfortable straps made of satin elastic laminated to flannel are excellent for getting young girls used to shoulder straps.

When a single bra has detachable straps, a non - slip back and pin tabs, it is virtually a bra wardrobe in itself, and it is easy to sell a young girl on the idea.

It is wise when starting your young daughter on her first foundation garment wardrobe to teach her the necessity of the proper care of each garment. Let her launder her own and impress upon her that daintiness requires a clean bra every day.

Since bras dry easily overnight, she can suds and rinse her garments at bedtime. A freshly-washed panty garter belt is a must, too, for the well - groomed dainty girl.

Show daughter how to shape a damp bra or panty with her fingers so that it dries smooth, remains in shape and looks like new. Remind her that elasticized materials should be dried at room temperature and never close to direct heat.

Start daughter off with at least two of each type of foundation garment that you choose for her - one to wear and one to wash. That way, there will always be a clean foundation garment twosome in the lingerie drawer.

The prices of these garments are so reasonable that such an outlay isn't a budget - denter.

A DOUBLE-BREASTED box jacket is teamed with an easy skirt in this suit.

Do you have a nutmeg grater? Put it on the table when you serve a fruit pudding with a topping of whipped cream. The freshly grated spice is delightful wafted over the dessert.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

They Have a Lot To Learn

DEAR ABBY: What can a 13-year-old girl do about parents who expect her to be polite to them, but who say, "Do the dishes or you'll get your head knocked off!"

I try hard to please them and I don't mind helping with the housework, but can't they say, "Will you please?"

"MISS TREATED": It's a pity more parents don't realize the wonders to be worked through common courtesy with their youngsters. But don't YOU try to teach them, Honey. Just remember it when you have children of your own.

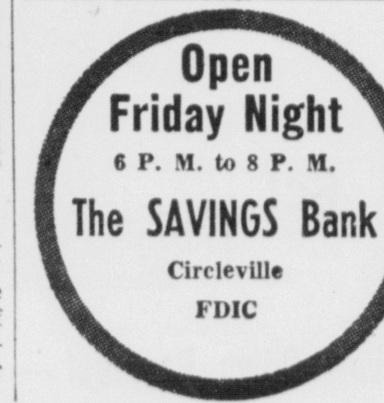

DEAR ABBY: I have a little problem with a mother-in-law who means well but is not as understanding as she could be. She is a "saver" and has saved all my husband's clothes since he was a small boy. That was 29 years ago. We now have a son who is almost five, and my mother-in-law insists on giving me all my husband's old clothes for my son to wear. We are not rich, but we can afford to buy clothes for our son. My husband doesn't want to hurt his mother and neither do I, but how can we avoid it?

MY PROBLEM
DEAR PROBLEM: Accept them graciously, and then quietly pass them on to the Red Cross or the Salvation Army for folks who are more concerned with keeping their bodies covered than being stylishly dressed.

DEAR ABBY: I have been courting a widow for about ten years. She keeps saying she can't marry me until her daughter gets married. Her daughter is 29 years old and hasn't even got a boy friend. My friends tell me that this woman is just using her daughter as an excuse, and has no intention of marrying me. I am 64, own my own home and am

THAT BIG TEAR GAS BATTLE—A French soldier (second left) and a West Berlin policeman (third left) are flanked by two civilians as they watch a blanket of tear gas hanging over the East-West Berlin border area. Judge on Job As Usual; He Is Only 102

PLATTSBURG, Mo. (AP)—Albert R. Alexander came to work as usual Wednesday.

So did a lot of other people but few of them are 102 years old and still holding public office.

Alexander is serving his third four-year term as Clinton County probate judge and ex-officio magistrate.

His office was filled with flowers and cards as friends remembered him on his birthday. But the judge didn't shorten his usual 8-to-5 hours for the occasion.

At midmorning he was busy pounding away on his typewriter. He uses a modified hunt-and-peck system.

He drives his car to work every day, but if the machine won't start he just steps out and walks the mile and a half to the courthouse.

Occasionally in the summer he'll show up a little late with the explanation that he had to mow his yard.

Alexander still has no plans for retirement or plans to run for a fourth term. He is a Democrat.

"Whether I run or not in 1962," he said, "will depend upon what our good people want me to do at that time."

U.S. Veep Not Scheduled To Attend Ohio Dem Parley

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio Democratic leaders, who announced that Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson would head the White House regional conference in Cleveland next week, apparently are in for a little political embarrassment. The Kennedy administration reportedly is doing its best to help them avoid it.

The Ohioans, including Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze of Cleveland, announced two weeks ago that Johnson would lead high-ranking federal officials to the conference.

But Johnson's office says that the Cleveland conference Nov. 15-16 "is not on his schedule." It would not say whether the Vice President had ever intended to go.

Although the White House, in originally announcing the series of 12 regional conferences, did not list Johnson as a participant in the Cleveland meeting, there were indications the Ohioans had good reason to believe he would attend.

An official who is helping make arrangements for the Cleveland conference said he had been waiting for days for White House announcement of a "headline" administration figure "to replace Johnson."

The official, who declined to be quoted by name, indicated he wanted definite word on a replacement "of cabinet level" before saying flatly that Johnson would not be there.

He indicated further that some last-minute efforts were being made to work the Cleveland conference into Johnson's busy schedule. The Vice President is due in Seattle Nov. 17 for a dinner honoring Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., and an appearance in Ohio apparently would be too tight a squeeze on his time.

The White House conferences have been denounced by Republican leaders as "designed to influence legislation," and defended by Democrats as a review of government domestic policies and programs to test public sentiment on them.

A number of federal officials are scheduled to discuss metropolitan planning, community facilities and urban renewal at the Cleveland conference.

President Kennedy said in announcing the series of conferences that "it is important in the cause of good government and continued progress that the people be well informed on these public matters."

Topics at the Cleveland meeting include "full employment and economic growth," "opportunities for cities," "opportunities for senior citizens" and "opportunities for youth."

U.S. Veep Not Scheduled To Attend Ohio Dem Parley

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio Democratic leaders, who announced that Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson would head the White House regional conference in Cleveland next week, apparently are in for a little political embarrassment. The Kennedy administration reportedly is doing its best to help them avoid it.

The Ohioans, including Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze of Cleveland, announced two weeks ago that Johnson would lead high-ranking federal officials to the conference.

But Johnson's office says that the Cleveland conference Nov. 15-16 "is not on his schedule." It would not say whether the Vice President had ever intended to go.

Although the White House, in originally announcing the series of 12 regional conferences, did not list Johnson as a participant in the Cleveland meeting, there were indications the Ohioans had good reason to believe he would attend.

An official who is helping make arrangements for the Cleveland conference said he had been waiting for days for White House an-

Judge on Job As Usual; He Is Only 102

PLATTSBURG, Mo. (AP)—Albert R. Alexander came to work as usual Wednesday.

So did a lot of other people but few of them are 102 years old and still holding public office.

Alexander is serving his third four-year term as Clinton County probate judge and ex-officio magistrate.

His office was filled with flowers and cards as friends remembered him on his birthday. But the judge didn't shorten his usual 8-to-5 hours for the occasion.

At midmorning he was busy pounding away on his typewriter. He uses a modified hunt-and-peck system.

He drives his car to work every day, but if the machine won't start he just steps out and walks the mile and a half to the courthouse.

Occasionally in the summer he'll show up a little late with the explanation that he had to mow his yard.

Alexander still has no plans for retirement or plans to run for a fourth term. He is a Democrat.

"Whether I run or not in 1962," he said, "will depend upon what our good people want me to do at that time."

Dems Display New Strength In Cincy Poll

CINCINNATI (AP) — Republicans won five seats on City Council under a final tally of municipal voting that wasn't completed until near midnight Wednesday.

The election showed new strength by Democrats in this longtime GOP city. They put three men on the Council, and the old Charter Party elected one.

In count of the last 149 of the 749 city precincts, Mayor Walton Bachrach rallied and edged past Democratic Council incumbent John Gilligan to top the voting, taking 69,038 votes.

Galligan, who led through most of the early counting, was second with 66,436.

Bachrach was virtually assured the mayor's job—largely a ceremonial one—for the next two years, anyway, since he topped GOP candidates from the start. The Council majority elects the mayor from its ranks, and he is customarily their top vote getter.

The election indicated the Charter Party, after 36 years in a dominant role in city politics, may be dying out.

THE local chairman said everyone should be tested, particularly those who are overweight, over 40 years of age or related to diabetics.

Among the symptoms he listed are excessive thirst, excessive urination, loss of weight despite unusual hunger, intense itching, slow healing of cuts and bruises, changes in vision, easy tiring and pain in the extremities.

'Poor Man's Shelter' Works Fine in California Fire

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Bel-Air fire was a costly test for a $30 fallout shelter but its builder, one of the world's experts on nuclear survival, is more sold than ever on it.

Dr. Willard F. Libby, winner of the 1960 Nobel Prize for his discovery of the carbon 14 "atomic clock," has little else left at his home—or pile of rubble—at 1016 N. Chantilly Road.

No street in Hiroshima could have looked worse than Chantilly Road. The UCLA scientist's sandbag shelter—minus its burned-up railroad tie beams—did much better than the house—or the rest of the neighborhood.

"I have more faith than ever in the shelter," Dr. Libby told a newsman today. "This shelter was designed against fallout—a radioactive powder—not fire. Had there been a nuclear blast, I have no doubt that it would have more than done its job."

He said that he will rebuild it with different supporting beams. The fire, which came right over the shelter, burned up the railroad ties but left the sandbags mostly intact.

"I'm thinking now about some new kind of beams. Steel would be good but might make it too expensive. I'll come up with something," he said.

"Don't forget, there's a big difference in protecting yourself from falling powder than fire. The ties would have worked fine against radioactive fallout."

"I've said all along that my shelter will work. Today, I say it more than ever."

The Libby "poor man's shelter" is a hole dug horizontally into the hillside back of what was once his home. As he shoveled out the dirt, he put into 10-pound burlap bags to construct walls three feet thick. Then he built another dirt wall in front of the hole with an offset. That's because radiation can't turn corners.

He laid the railroad ties above the sidewalls and stacked bags three feet deep atop the beams. The shelter gave a dirt wall enclosure of 4 by 6 feet. The bags were all treated with zinc chromate, a chemical preservative. Other than a few holes, the bags were undamaged.

Deadline Nears For Wheat Signup

Less than a month remains in which growers may file applications to take part in the 1962 winter wheat stabilization program, Galen D. Mowery, chairman of the Pickaway Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, reminded farmers today.

The deadline is 1961. The chairman said this means producers may sign up in the program at any time through Friday, Dec. 1.

Farmers who take part in the program will be eligible to receive special payments for diverting a part of their acreage from the production of wheat and devoting that acreage to an approved conservation use. They will also qualify for price support on their 1962 crop.

The 1962 wheat support is at a minimum national average of $2 a bushel.

Hours after contact was lost with the plane, two bodies and two life rafts and other bits of wreckage were recovered and were taken aboard the carrier.

CirclevilleDeadline Nears For Wheat Signup

Less than a month remains in which growers may file applications to take part in the 1962 winter wheat stabilization program, Galen D. Mowery, chairman of the Pickaway Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, reminded farmers today.

The deadline is 1961. The chairman said this means producers may sign up in the program at any time through Friday, Dec. 1.

Farmers who take part in the program will be eligible to receive special payments for diverting a part of their acreage from the production of wheat and devoting that acreage to an approved conservation use. They will also qualify for price support on their 1962 crop.

The 1962 wheat support is at a minimum national average of $2 a bushel.

Ohio's State Government Is Snarled In Disturbing Political Stalemate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's state government is snarled in one of the most disturbing political and financial stalemates in many a year.

The crisis is both immediate and long-range. The government is close to the bottom of the cash barrel and, even at this late date, there are no appropriations for the second year of the two-year budget period which begins next July 1.

Because of an unusual set of circumstances, the state may be unable to pay its bills early next year for lack of money. If the political stalemate isn't broken in the next 7½ months, the government will be unable to operate after next June 30.

Whether the recessed session of the legislature beginning Nov. 14 will be able to find the loose thread in the snarl is anybody's guess.

The Republican legislature and Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle are at odds, of course, over money.

The administration accuses the Republicans of failing to meet the needs of the state while appropriating $8 million more than the state's anticipated income and setting the stage for a lag in sales tax collections which could soar to $54 million in the budget period which ends in mid-1963.

At the same time, the governor has vetoed all appropriations for the bookkeeping year starting next July 1 on grounds the legislature didn't allocate enough money. DiSalle insists more money is needed to allow the state to do an adequate, enlightened job in the fields of education, welfare and mental health and correction.

Two years ago, with a Democratic-dominated legislature behind him, DiSalle authored a tax program to bring about 95 million new tax dollars into the state's general fund each year. This year, faced with a Republican legislature, he described the state's needs as he sees them and told the lawmakers it is their duty to come up with the extra cash to pay for expanding state programs.

Republican legislative leaders are committed to a no-new-taxes policy.

By their actions, they have let the Democratic governor know they are in no mood to ask the taxpayers to ante up any more money.

Even if they were in the mood, they say, it is the governor's job to recommend new sources of revenue.

The immediate - cash problem is different. It's like the financial situation in almost any family when it comes time to pay the Christmas bills. All of a sudden the cash runs out.

Just as with many families, Ohio's financial crisis is predicted for late in January or early February. February is Ohio's big bill-paying month - the quarterly payment of school foundation funds to local districts being the biggest.

Ohio's problem early next year will be a shift from the pre-paid sales tax stamp system to one in which retailers make payments to the state after the money has been collected. Although a one-per cent bonus is provided for retailers who make their payments in advance, Finance Director James H. Maloon and others are fearful of a serious lag in tax collections which could put a severe crimp in the state's income prospects.

Even Maloon and the state tax department aren't sure what effect the bonus for early payment will have. They believe sales tax collections will drop at least $20 million, and perhaps as much as $48 million, for the fiscal year which ends June 30.

The situation, because of long-range savings in the costs of stamp redemption and stamp printing, eventually will right itself, Maloon believes, but there may be a number of financially embarrassing moments before it does.

The effect of what Maloon calls the "almost certain" prospect that the state will run out of cash depends largely upon how deep the tax collection lag turns out to be. It could turn out to be a brief delay in state payments to local school districts under the foundation program or for the state's share of retirement systems. Or it might result in "payless pay-days" for state employees.

Maloon is hoping for quick action on the immediate cash problem. He says it ought to be resolved before Jan. 1.

But the basic stalemate between opposing Republican and Democratic philosophies remain.

It is possible the break in the deadlock already has appeared—DiSalle's dramatic decision to bow out of the 1962 race for governor while continuing his fight for his programs "unburdened by candidacy."

But to suppose that DiSalle's decisions will end the ruckus includes the assumption that Democratic lawmakers will desert their party's policy in large numbers. As of now, there is no real indication that will happen.

The close party division in the legislature, especially in the Senate, is the basic reason for the binding stalemate. Republicans have 20 members in the 38-man Senate and the Democrats 18. It takes 23 Senate votes to override a veto by the governor.

In the House, Republicans started the session with 84 members, exactly the number needed to override a veto, but since that time three Republican members have died.

A complicating factor as the GOP legislature starts to try to find its way out of the financial woods the fact that already state income is lagging behind the estimates. The lag is about $7.4 million in the first quarter of the fiscal year—July 1 to Oct. 1. Nearly $5.5 million of that is in sales tax, usually a reliable barometer of business conditions.

Maloon, DiSalle's finance director, says he is confident the lag will be overcome, but Republican lawmakers express alarm.

Indications are that Republican legislative leaders will make no serious attempts to override the governor's big veto of more than $1 billion in appropriations. Most likely they will start from scratch with a brand new bill to cover second-year appropriations.

They appear to have at least two major lines of strategy open to them:

1. They can pass a new bill carrying virtually the same appropriations vetoed by DiSalle and adjourn. Of course, the governor could veto the new bill and things would be right back where they started—stuck on dead center. It then would be necessary for DiSalle to call a special session for another attempt to end the deadlock.

2. The Republicans could assign a number of legislative subcommittees to study the money problems in key fields of government in addition to income prospects and delay a final decision until next spring—possibly until after the primary elections next May.

Such a tactic might have repercussions:

It wouldn't solve the immediate-cash problem.

It would put the super-heated money dispute right in the middle of an election campaign in which all state offices and control of the legislature are at stake—a prospect which would scarcely appeal to candidates of either party.

It might even put DiSalle in position where he would be forced to reverse his decision to bow out of the 1962 race.

Plea for Economics

WASHINGTON (AP) — A leading educator has entered a plea for more study of economics in high schools.

Dr. Galen Jones, director of the Council for Advancement of Secondary Education, says less than 600,000 of the more than 10 million high school youngsters in the United States receive as much as one semester of economics.

Broader study of economics, says Dr. Galen, is essential if young people are to understand the economy and learn to analyze, appraise and make decisions on economic matters.

Semi-Annual Crop Report Coming Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department's semi-annual crop production report due today is counted upon to give a fairly accurate estimate of the effectiveness of new programs to halt pile-up of surplus grains.

On the basis of production estimates of a month ago, the department has predicted the big corn reserve and surplus of nearly 2 billion bushels would be reduced about 150 million bushels. No reduction was foreseen in the sorghum grain reserve and surplus of about 700 million bushels.

The interest centers on corn and sorghum grain because the department will pay farmers around $768 million for reducing acreages of these crops this year. The effectiveness of this payment program could well influence farmer participation in a similar one next year for corn, sorghum grains and barley.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Council of Farmer Cooperatives will hold its 33rd annual meeting at San Francisco Jan. 15-17, with Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman a featured speaker.

The council will work out a program designed to help make the farm cooperative movement a stronger one in helping farmers with production and marketing problems.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today that farm real estate taxes have increased each year since 1942. They reached a peak of $1,284,000,000 in 1960. Advance reports indicated 1961 taxes will be $1,361,000,000.

Farm personal taxes were estimated at $277 million this year, up about 3 per cent from last year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government payments to farmers in the first three quarters of 1961 are estimated by the Agriculture Department at an annual rate of $1.3 billion, or $600 million higher than in the corresponding period of 1960.

The department said farm production expenses this year are running at an annual rate of nearly $40 million more than last year, when they totaled about $26 billion.

Lamb makes one of its infrequent appearances at the top of the list of weekend specials offered by supermarkets and neighborhood stores this weekend.

Legs, roasts and chops are headliners in the Northeastern, Southeastern and Midwestern sections of the country.

One big Eastern chain is offering lamb legs at 47 cents a pound, down 16 cents from last week.

Meat currently is an economical item with supplies of beef and pork heavy.

Beef specials include roasts, steaks, ground beef and veal cuts. Bargain pork offerings include roasts, hams, chops and bacon.

Housewives with an eye on Thansgiving Day are buying turkeys and finding them plentiful and reasonable. Frying and broiling chickens, also in abundant supply, are good buys.

Eggs and dairy products continue in good supply throughout the nation.

Fish is being widely featured and, depending on the section of the country, the specials include fillets, clams, lobsters, halibut, oysters, crab, mullet, sea trout, whiting perch and salmon.

The list of thrifty vegetables includes anise, broccoli, broccoli rabe, Brussels sprouts, cabbage, carrots, Chinese cabbage, mushrooms, Eastern onions and potatoes, radishes, spinach, yellow and winter type squash and sweet potatoes.

Good buys are artichokes, beans, beets, endive, escarole, celery, cucumbers, eggplant, green onions, lettuce, western Spanish onions and russet potatoes, parsley, peppers, green Italian squash and tomatoes.

Generous supplies of fruit will be available, especially apples, grapes, oranges and grapefruit. Grapes, coconuts, pears, pomegranates, persimmons, oranges and grapefruit are good buys.

"I've written my tale of rags-to-riches and back to rags and some day I may get it published. It's quite a story.

"I had it very good in this town. Actually I started in 1918, at Fort Lee, N. J., when it was the center of the film industry. I worked extra four years until D. W. Griffith, God rest his soul, gave me a break."

There followed 15 years of top success. Hamilton made 72 pictures in six years and his films included "Beau Geste," "One Sunday Afternoon," "When Strangers May Kiss" (opposite Norma Shearer), "What Price Hollywood?" (opposite Constance Bennett), and the first two big Tarzan films.

But in the mid - 30s his career started to slide. He had lost a bundle in the stock market and had investments in the New York World Fair.

In 1941 he found no jobs as an actor so he became an agent's assistant at $50 a week.

"I had made a million in the film business," he recalled. "We had owned a house in Brentwood with five servants and now we were living in a $60-a-month apartment.

"I was drinking and I was at my lowest ebb. One night I was driving toward the hills and I was determined to kill myself. I knew a place where I wouldn't be found for years and the insurance would help my wife and daughter."

But he next found himself on the steps of the club for Catholic students at UCLA. Hamilton recited his woes to an old friend, a priest, who urged him to try the power of prayer.

The actor agreed to try. Within nine days he had an offer for four weeks of film work at $625 a week. The director loaned him $500 to buy a new wardrobe.

Since that time he has worked fairly steadily in stage plays and live TV, and lately has played most of the filmed TV shows; he has been on Perry Mason five times.

At 62, he has no illusions, no regrets. He makes a comfortable living, doing two or three TV series a month. He has had the same wife for 39 years.

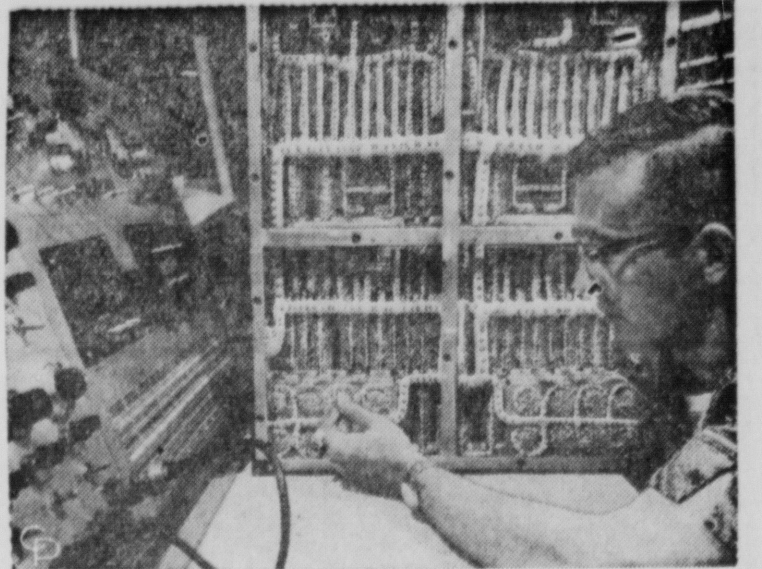

"But most of all, I have my faith," he remarked. "That's all a man needs."

Cadillac

What a difference a year makes!

If anyone had told him, a short while ago, that his 1961 Cadillac could be improved on—he would have regarded them with disbelief.

And yet, after only half an hour in the newest "car of cars", he knows that a year of Cadillac progress has made a world of difference.

In fact, the list of Cadillac advancements for 1962 embraces each of the great motoring virtues.

For added beauty, there is a lower, longer silhouette . . . greater simplicity and dignity of line . . . and new interior elegance and luxury.

For improved comfort, there is increased spaciousness . . . new convenience of appointments . . . and a ride that is unbelievably quiet and smooth.

For finer performance, there is greater power . . .

more responsive handling . . . and a degree of all-around road ableness that is new even to Cadillac.

For increased safety, there is a new dual braking system . . . a new three-phase rear warning light system . . . and new cornering lights that illuminate your way around turns.

And we would like to say that even Cadillac quality has been enhanced for 1962. But the truth is simply that the car continues to be built to the highest standards that can be brought to the production of an automobile.

Stop by your dealer's showroom soon, won't you? He'll be happy to demonstrate to you what a difference a year can make—when the year is this one and the car is Cadillac.

FOR SIXTY YEARS THE STANDARD OF THE WORLD

Semi-Annual Crop Report Coming Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department's semi-annual crop production report due today is counted upon to give a fairly accurate estimate of the effectiveness of new programs to halt pile-up of surplus grains.

On the basis of production estimates of a month ago, the department has predicted the big corn reserve and surplus of nearly 2 billion bushels would be reduced about 150 million bushels. No reduction was foreseen in the sorghum grain reserve and surplus of about 700 million bushels.

The interest centers on corn and sorghum grain because the department will pay farmers around $768 million for reducing acreages of these crops this year. The effectiveness of this payment program could well influence farmer participation in a similar one next year for corn, sorghum grains and barley.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Council of Farmer Cooperatives will hold its 33rd annual meeting at San Francisco Jan. 15-17, with Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman a featured speaker.

The council will work out a program designed to help make the farm cooperative movement a stronger one in helping farmers with production and marketing problems.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today that farm real estate taxes have increased each year since 1942. They reached a peak of $1,284,000,000 in 1960. Advance reports indicated 1961 taxes will be $1,361,000,000.

Farm personal taxes were estimated at $277 million this year, up about 3 per cent from last year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government payments to farmers in the first three quarters of 1961 are estimated by the Agriculture Department at an annual rate of $1.3 billion, or $600 million higher than in the corresponding period of 1960.

The department said farm production expenses this year are running at an annual rate of nearly $40 million more than last year, when they totaled about $26 billion.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lamb makes one of its infrequent appearances at the top of the list of weekend specials offered by supermarkets and neighborhood stores this weekend.

Legs, roasts and chops are headlines in the Northeastern, Southeastern and Midwestern sections of the country.

One big Eastern chain is offering lamb legs at 47 cents a pound, down 16 cents from last week.

Meat currently is an economical item with supplies of beef and pork heavy.

Beef specials include roasts, steaks, ground beef and veal cuts. Bargain pork offerings include roasts, hams, chops and bacon.

Housewives with an eye on Thanksgiving Day are buying turkeys and finding them plentiful and reasonable. Frying and broiling chickens, also in abundant supply, are good buys.

Eggs and dairy products continue in good supply throughout the nation.

Fish is being widely featured and, depending on the section of the country, the specials include fillets, clams, lobsters, halibut, oysters, crab, mullet, sea trout, whiting perch and salmon.

The list of thrifty vegetables includes anise, broccoli, broccoli rabe, Brussels sprouts, cabbage, carrots, Chinese cabbage, mushrooms, Eastern onions and potatoes, radishes, spinach, yellow and winter type squash and sweet potatoes.

Good buys are artichokes, beans, beets, endive, escarole, celery, cucumbers, eggplant, green onions, lettuce, western Spanish onions and russet potatoes, parsley, peppers, green Italian squash and tomatoes.

Generous supplies of fruit will be available, especially apples, grapes, oranges and grapefruit. Grapes, coconuts, pears, pomegranates, persimmons, oranges and grapefruit are good buys.

Suave Star of Silent Films Recalls His Ups and Downs

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The face would be familiar to every film fan over 35.

Neil Hamilton, still as slimly handsome, still with the same hairline as when he acted the suave leading man in silent films and talkies was playing a minor role in a TV show, "Follow the Sun." He also had a story.

SCOL Crown at Stake

Pleasant View Foe Of CHS Tomorrow

Pleasant View's supposedly-punchless Panthers, victims of six straight trouncings in as many outings in South Central Ohio League play this year, may unleash some unexpected power against Circleville's Tigers tomorrow night in the 1961 gridiron finale at CHS field.

Tiger coach Carl Benhase reserved seat tickets for tomorrow night's Tiger-Pleasant View tilt may be purchased in the main hall of the high school tomorrow until 4 p.m. Students tickets are to be available at elementary schools and at Risch and Gallaher's Drug Stores Friday until 6 p.m.

CHS faculty athletic manager Robert Ransom announced general admission and a few reserved seat ducats would be on sale at the gate for the Tigers' last home grid game of 1961.

warned today Pleasant View "has a much tougher ball club than their record shows." The Panthers, under the alert eye of coach Quentin Lanning, gave Miami Trace a rough time of it last Friday, checking the big Fayette County team to a hard-fought 12-10 decision.

Since then Lanning and his aides have been hard at work on their near - Grove City pasture, developing a multiple offensive style unlike anything the Tigers have

Stars Called By Army Not Yelling 'Foul'

FORT LEWIS, Wash. (AP)—The athletes Uncle Sam pulled into the Army because of the Berlin crisis aren't yelling "foul!"

"It's one of the things you have to accept as part of the times," said Pvt. Ray Nitschke, hard-muscled linebacker of the Green Bay Packers.

"I took an oath of obligation when I joined the reserves and never considered applying for deferment," Nitschke added.

"This," said Pvt. Tony Kubek, star shortstop of the world champion New York Yankees, "is a much bigger thing than any baseball game."

Three other prominent soldier-athletes of the 32nd Red Arrow Infantry Division expressed similar sentiment, said Lt. Robert Bjorklund, public information officer.

They are Pvt. Bob Taylor, Milwaukee Braves outfielder; George Thomas, Los Angeles Angels outfielder; and Doug Mayberry, Minneapolis Vikings fullback.

Boyd Dowler, Green Bay halfback, is expected to join the division next week. The unit will receive intensive training for battle readiness in the coming weeks.

None is overjoyed with the change in uniform, the interruption of career, the cut in wages. Each draws base pay of $85.80 per month. Most, if not all, are in the five-figure salary class as athletes.

Buckeye Offense Sets Big Ten Pace

CHICAGO (AP) — Ohio State's Puckeyes lead the Big Ten in offense, conference statistics show today.

Ohio State, co-leader of the conference with Minnesota, have averaged 358.8 yards a game, 287.3 of them by rushing. The Buckeyes also are tops in scoring with a 28.3 average and are tied with Michigan State in yards per play with 5.1.

Minnesota leads in defense. Ohio State fullback Bob Ferguson, leads the conference in both individual scoring and rushing statistics—30 points scored and 470 yards gained.

White Ford Voted '61 Cy Young Award

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y. (AP)—Whitey Ford was as pleased as a rookie pitching his first major league victory when he learned he had been voted the 1961 Cy Young award as baseball's outstanding pitcher.

"You know something," he said. "It's the first award I've ever gotten in 15 years in baseball. Oh, I did get an award once, but it was while I was in the Army and it was for hitting, not pitching. And the game was softball, to boot."

The board of control of the Ohio High School Athletic Association Wednesday reaffirmed its action of last month handing McKinley a one-year suspension.

Board members deliberated more than an hour before making their unanimous decision after hearing new evidence presented by McKinley.

The suspension was handed McKinley Oct. 14 for an alleged violation of the "undue influence" rule. H. W. McKelvey, superintendent of Portsmouth schools, charged that McKinley boosters and assistant football coach Joe Cochran pirated two Portsmouth football players—brothers Larry and Jim Austin—by influencing their father, Joseph, to move to Canton where he obtained employment.

McKinley was represented at Columbus Wednesday by Humbert, McKinley Principal Paul A. Schott, City Solicitor Harold E.

Dehoff and Sanford Lazarus, president of the school board.

New evidence presented included a counter-affidavit obtained by Dehoff two weeks ago from Brenton Austin, 15, cousin of the two football players involved.

Austin denied in his new affidavit that he made some of the statements in the affidavit presented at the first hearing before the OHSAA board of control by Portsmouth officials last month. He was quoted as saying that the first affidavit was typed up before he was asked to sign it by McKelvey and Portsmouth football coach Howard Baughman.

Humbert said he was shocked

Mitchell Is Urged To Keep in Shape

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns are counting on Bobby Mitchell, recalled into the Army, for the left halfback chores against the Redskins in Washington Sunday, and Coach Paul Brown has advised him in a telegram to "get in all the running you can."

Mitchell checked in at Ft. Meade, Md., last week, but returned to Cleveland on a weekend pass and saw some action against the Pittsburgh Steelers Sunday.

Mitchell may be used fulltime against the Redskins because of a shoulder dislocation suffered Sunday by rookie Tom Watkins, who had been selected as his replacement. Watkins maybe out for a month.

SCOL Crown at Stake

Pleasant View Foe Of CHS Tomorrow

Pleasant View's supposedly-punchless Panthers, victims of six straight trouncings in as many outings in South Central Ohio League play this year, may unleash some unexpected power against Circleville's Tigers tomorrow night in the 1961 gridiron finale at CHS field.

Tiger coach Carl Benhase reserved seat tickets for tomorrow night's Tiger-Pleasant View tilt may be purchased in the main hall of the high school tomorrow until 4 p.m. Students tickets are to be available at elementary schools and at Risch and Gallaher's Drug Stores Friday until 6 p.m.

CHS faculty athletic manager Robert Ransom announced general admission and a few reserved seat duets would be on sale at the gate for the Tigers' last home grid game of 1961.

Warned today Pleasant View "has a much tougher ball club than their record shows." The Panthers, under the alert eye of coach Quentin Lanning, gave Miami Trace a rough time of it last Friday, checking the big Fayette County team to a hard-fought 12-10 decision.

Since then Lanning and his aides have been hard at work on their near - Grove City pastures, developing a multiple offensive style unlike anything the Tigers have

Stars Called By Army Not Yelling 'Foul'

FORT LEWIS, Wash. (AP)—The athletes Uncle Sam pulled into the Army because of the Berlin crisis aren't yelling "foul!"

"It's one of the things you have to accept as part of the times," said Pvt. Ray Nitschke, hard-muscled linebacker of the Green Bay Packers.

"I took an oath of obligation when I joined the reserves and never considered applying for deferment," Nitschke added.

"This," said Pvt. Tony Kubek, star shortstop of the world champion New York Yankees, "is a much bigger thing than any baseball game."

Three other prominent soldier-athletes of the 32nd Red Arrow Infantry Division expressed similar sentiment, said Lt. Robert Bjorklund, public information officer.

They are Pvt. Bob Taylor, Milwaukee Braves outfielder; George Thomas, Los Angeles Angels outfielder; and Doug Mayberry, Minneapolis Vikings fullback.

Boyd Dowler, Green Bay halfback, is expected to join the division next week. The unit will receive intensive training for battle readiness in the coming weeks.

None is overjoyed with the change in uniform, the interruption of career, the cut in wages. Each draws base pay of $85.80 per month. Most, if not all, are in the five-figure salary class as athletes.

Buckeye Offense Sets Big Ten Pace

CHICAGO (AP) — Ohio State's Buckeyes lead the Big Ten in offense, conference statistics show today.

Ohio State, co-leader of the conference with Minnesota, have averaged 358.8 yards a game, 287.3 of them by rushing. The Buckeyes also are tops in scoring with a 28.3 average and are tied with Michigan State in yards per play with 5.1.

Minnesota leads in defense. Ohio State fullback Bob Ferguson, leads the conference in both individual scoring and rushing statistics—30 points scored and 470 yards gained.

Whitey Ford Voted '61 Cy Young Award
LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y. (AP)—Whitey Ford was as pleased as a rookie pitching his first major league victory when he learned he had been voted the 1961 Cy Young award as baseball's outstanding pitcher.

"You know something," he said. "It's the first award I've ever gotten in 15 years in baseball. Oh, I did get an award once, but it was while I was in the Army and it was for hitting, not pitching. And the game was softball, to boot."

Your Financial Welfare Is Our Business
The SAVINGS Bank
Circleville
FDIC

For Circleville, owners of a 5-1 SCOL ticket and an 8-1 overall mark, the game must bring a victory if hopes for possession of the circuit championship are to be kept alive. In conjunction with the local bout, another league game will determine how successful this bid will be.

FRANKLIN Heights, downed 13-6 last week by Circleville, goes against Washington C. H. on the Blue Lions home soil. Washington, after a laboring start that promised little in the way of title contention, has captured five straight league wins. Circleville defeated coach Dick Anders' crew 22-8 back on Sept. 29 in the loop opener for both clubs.

At the moment, Circleville and Washington C. H. are deadlocked for the league lead with identical records. If Franklin Heights (4-2) should defeat the Lions while the Tigers won, Circleville would have undisputed claim to first place in final SCOL standings for the first time in a decade.

If Washington whips the Falcons and Circleville should lose the Lions would take the crown on a 6-1 slate. If both win the two squads would divide the title. Further confusion would be added to the championship chase should bance Washington and the Tigers both suffer losses. Depending on the outcome of other games the final frontrunner post could be jointly occupied by as many as four clubs — with Wilmington's faltering Hurricane and Franklin Heights also cutting a slice of the crown cake.

But the Tigers are mainly concerned with containing Pleasant View. "We won't even worry about the other games until we defeat the Panthers," Benhase commented.

Pleasant View features a perplexing variety of offensive moves, including an unbalanced line and an attack sometimes run from a punt formation. Ebright, the quarterback, has an accurate arm — though receiving is below par — and if the field is dry he will probably go to the air frequently.

The Panthers center their running game on a speedy fullback and the Tigers will have to guard closely against end sweeps.

SENIOR Gary Harrison, recovered from injuries which have sidelined him most of the season, will start for Circleville at defensive left tackle in place of Ray Taylor. Taylor moves out of the opening eleven as Jim Anderson resumes his duties at right guard and captain Pat Rooney returns to center.

The Tigers plan to stick with a grinding ground attack that has worked wonders for them in nine games so far. Field general Dave Hannahs may fire some short-range aerials to spark the assault.

Pep rallies before and after classes at the high school will boost the Bengals into their try for the crown.

The board of control of the Ohio High School Athletic Association Wednesday reaffirmed its action of last month handing McKinley a one-year suspension.

Board members deliberated more than an hour before making their unanimous decision after hearing new evidence presented by McKinley.

The suspension was handed McKinley Oct. 14 for an alleged violation of the "undue influence" rule. H. W. He was quoted as saying that the first affidavit was typed up before he was asked to sign it by McKelvey and Portsmouth football coach Howard Baughman.

Humbert said he was shocked

by the board's decision to make the suspension stick.

Schott, who led the fight for a rehearing, said, "It's a shame that a group of men will see fit to penalize a whole student body and a city for some action that is based on such flimsy evidence."

The board's decision will result in an estimated $75,000 loss in gate receipts for the city schools next year.

Dehoff, attorney for the board of education, indicated Wednesday night that several avenues may be open to the Canton board if it decides to sue the OHSAA.

"It will be up to the board," he said, "but possibly, we will seek an injunction or charge the state board abused its discretion."

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our beloved wife, mother, and grandmother, Madge Piper, who passed away November 9, 1961.

A wonderful mother, wife, and aid; one who was better God never made; one who was kinder, so loyal and true; one in a million—that was you. Just in your judgement, always right, honest and liberal, ever upright. Loved by your friends and all whom you knew.

Our wonderful mother and wife that was you.

Sadly missed by husband, daughters, son and grandchildren.

Views on TV - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Most television viewers have not yet had time to establish new habits—whether to dial in "Sing Along with Mitch" or stick with "The Untouchables"; whether to settle down with Garry Moore or see what Fred Astaire's show is up to.

But the programming masterminds on the three major TV networks are already hard at work dreaming up TV menus for next season—which starts some 10 months hence. And they already have come to some conclusions about current viewing tastes.

For instance, they are certain that the so-called "adult cartoon," which was supposed to be one of the big items of the current season, has turned out to be a big bust.

They are also convinced that viewers are finally getting sick and tired of the private eye, crime-buster and man-with-the-badge shows which sprouted all over this season's schedules.

They are beginning to be wary of violence-for-violence's sake, too, not necessarily because it is so loudly criticized. They think that viewers are becoming more sophisticated, bored with the same old battles, and not watching the shows.

And, of course, the Western is still in the TV doghouse.

Next season, it appears likely, we'll begin to see the return of the good, old half-hour show, largely because an hour-long programming mistake is a lot more expensive than a half-hour one.

The emphasis will be on dramatic shows built around a continuing set of characters, as demonstrated by "Dr. Kildare," "Ben Casey" and "The Defenders," three successful new entries.

Recommended tonight: "CBS Reports," 10-11—"In Case of War," first of a two-part series on the effects of nuclear warfare and prospects for survival.

Prof Envies Vast Research In Agriculture

BALTIMORE (AP)—"If this country would apply the same brainpower and money to the problems of education as it does to agriculture, there would be a bumper crop of national benefits."

So says Dean Lindley J. Stiles of the University of Wisconsin, who believes the real frontiers of education have not yet even been approached.

Stiles told the Council of Chief State School Officers Wednesday that properly supported, education can become the same kind of scientific process that farming is today.

The federal government now spends $160 million dollars a year on agricultural research, but only about $5 million on research in education, Stiles said.

He urged the state superintendents and commissioners of education, holding their annual three-day meeting here, to support a proposal that the federal government appropriate $75-million to $100-million dollars a year for educational research.

Stiles said later, in an interview, "Farmers used to farm according to the almanac, folklore, and trial and error. That is the way too many of our schools are educating youngsters today. It is high time we consider the cultivation of the mind just as important as the cultivation of the soil."

New Cambodian Moves Reported

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Two boatloads of armed Cambodian troops have garrisoned a small island in Cambodian territorial waters of the Gulf of Thailand, press reports reaching Bangkok said today.

The reports said the troops landed Monday on Yor Island, less than five miles from a Thai border village.

This was the second report of a Cambodian military move since neutralist Cambodia broke off diplomatic relations with pro-Western Thailand Oct. 23.

Radio Thailand on Oct. 27 said a company of Cambodian soldiers had been sighted at the frontier between the two countries.
